Dean Warns Russians of A-Bombing

Leaves Atomic Office, Says Reds Would Be Exposed to Missiles of All Sizes

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Gordon Dean has bowed out as head of America's atomic program with advice to Russia that starting a war would expose her to a rain of U. S. A-bombs "of almost any size."

That was the picture Dean painted at a farewell news conference yesterday before his retirement next Tuesday, after four years in the job, as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

"It would be a great pity," he said, "if Russia started a war because she assumed the United States did not have the power to retaliate to the point of destruction."

Whole Family of Bombs

Then, in contrast to the theory once held that bombs no weaker than the "nominal" ones dropped on Japan could ever be made—equivalent to the energy released in the explosion of 20,000 tons of TNT—Dean said the U. S. now has a whole family of A-bombs.

He told of "the development of a family of atomic weapons—a family which includes new designs of almost any usuable energy release, small or large, and of almost any size."

He suggested it might be helpful if an official indication of the "magnitude" of the U. S. atomic weapons stockpile was given. But he didn't subscribe completely to proposals that the numbers of bombs be published.

DEAN —2—

Might Help Defense

Dean also looked at the other side of the picture. He said it might help the Civil Defense effort, which has been lagging, if Americans were presented with an official U. S. estimate of Russia's atomic capabilities.

He said, in response to a question, he had the information but it was not up to the AEC to issue it. He said that was something for the White House, the National Security Council and other policy-making agencies to decide.

I. I. Rabi, Columbia University physics professor, told the atomic committee yesterday the U. S. is technically ready to produce electricity from nuclear energy.

'On Borderline'

Rabi, chairman of an AEC advisory committee of scientists, said present designs could produce a reactor "on the borderline" of being economically feasible. But he said government research would have to be continued.

The committee recessed until Monday a series of open hearings on an AEC proposal to let private business operate atomic plants and handle fissionable materials to spur the development of civilian power.

Legislature Pushes Ahead On Crime Bills

Albany, June 26 (AP)—An upstate Republican revolt against Gov. Dewey's uniform jury system bill spread today and a conference of GOP senators was called to try to stem the outbreak.

It was the only measure in Dewey's anti-crime program that was not certain to win approval of the Legislature before adjournment of the special session tonight.

Democratic legislative leaders told GOP chiefs the minority was joining the Republican rebels in opposition to the jury bill.

This was a switch, as the Democrats had endorsed the measure prior to the opening of the extraordinary session yesterday.

One Republican senator, who did not wish to be identified by name, indicated the Dewey administration was applying pressure to whip the revolters into line—or at least enough of them to get the bill through.

Counties Are Cited

The opposition reportedly included lawmakers from Monroe, Tioga, Erie, Seneca, Westchester and Schuyler counties.

The chief objection to the bill appeared to be that it would broaden the sources from which the names of prospective jurors could be obtained.

It would eliminate a requirement that a juror must own real property. And it provides that no one shall be called for jury duty more than once every two years. The bill strikes in other ways also at cozy arrangements some counties have for picking jury panels.

Some foes of the bill said they had not had time to study it. They noted it would not take effect until July 1, 1954, and they asked: "What's the hurry now?"

Approved by Assembly

The other bills in the series submitted by Dewey, for action at the special session, to improve the administration of criminal justice and strengthen the governor's powers to deal with organized crime and corruption, were approved overwhelmingly by the Assembly yesterday. These would:

1. Create the office of state crime commissioner.

2. Permit a district attorney to apply to the Appellate Division for authority to try a criminal case in a county other than his own. Both houses passed this measure.

3. Broaden the governor's power to oust mayors and police chiefs for misconduct in office. Some city charters now prevent the governor from acting.

4. Require motions relating to special investigations be made before the judge appointed to preside at a special trial term. This is believed to have stemmed from the Saratoga gambling probe.

5-6. Establish a uniform procedure for granting immunity to witnesses in investigations. Two bills deal with the subject.

The Assembly passed the meas-

President's Aide Says He Hopes for Gains

Text of Urgent Communication to Be Given Public Airing, He Tells Press

Seoul, June 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower's truce troubleshooter conferred with stubborn Syngman Rhee today and scheduled another talk tomorrow amid hints they might reach an understanding on a Korean truce.

The second meeting is expected to be held in the afternoon.

The emissary, assistant U. S. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, talked with Rhee for two hours and 45 minutes. Robertson told newsmen:

"We hope we are making progress in removing misunderstandings."

Robertson delivered a secret urgent message from President Eisenhower and U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He would not hint of its contents, but said the text would be made public later.

The Korean Public Information Office quoted Rhee as saying the discussion had been "very good" and that an understanding might be reached.

Beyond that, there were no indication of how much they had eased the crisis created by Rhee's insistence on drastic revision of the armistice terms—all but signed by the UN command and the Communists after nearly two years of hard bargaining.

Last Obstacle Renewed

The truce teams on June 9 had their last major obstacle to an armistice when they agreed to a formula for disposing of Chinese and North Korean war prisoners refusing to return to Red rule.

However, the expected formalities for announcing complete agreement were interrupted spectacularly by the release and escape of more than 27,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners last week on Rhee's orders.

Rhee insisted his government would never accept an armistice on present terms. He demanded withdrawal of all foreign troops and a mutal security pact with the United States as his "minimum conditions."

Pays Hurried Visit

Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, paid Rhee a hurried visit earlier this week, but the 78-year-old chief executive didn't budge. South Korean demonstrations against a truce became larger.

And on the battlefront, 13,000 Communists attacked on the western and eastern fronts, but the major Red blow on the western end of the line was thrown back. Eastern fighting raged on.

Meanwhile, South Korean officials and foreign diplomats showed more than passing interest in President Eisenhower's reported willingness to send a man high in the U. S. government to talk truce terms with Rhee.

Sources close to Rhee suggested he would not be unwilling to meet Eisenhower outside Korea, although Eisenhower gave no indication he would attend such a meeting.

'Might Be Alliance'

National Assembly Vice Speaker Yoon Chi Yung said "there might be a possibility" of an alliance between South Korea and Nationalist China if a truce is signed and South Korea fights on alone. Reports circulated that secret talks might be under way to bring in five Nationalist divisions to replace U. S. forces in case of a separate truce.

It was in this tense atmosphere that Robertson began his conferences with Rhee.

After the first conference, Rhee said "Mr. Robertson has brought good ideas and our mutual understanding is being greatly improved."

In the afternoon Robertson called on Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, one of the most outspoken opponents of a truce.

Pyun said later, "helpful vistas were opened."

Releases Replies

Just before the conference, Rhee released written replies to questions from the Associated Press.

Asked to list his "minimum conditions" for accepting a truce at this time, Rhee answered:

"Simultaneous withdrawal of both the Chinese and UN forces from Korea and a mutual security pact to be signed between the U. S. and the Republic of Korea. * * * Another proposal is that the political conference (after an armistice) be limited to a period of three months so that if no satisfactory result is agreed upon at the end of that period the armistice will be considered ended."

Asked whether he planned to release the 8,000 anti-Communist

German Puppets Move in Effect to Capitalistic Idea

Grotewohl Forms Special 'Operative Commission' to Cool Revolt of Populace

Berlin, June 26 (AP)—East Germany's Russian puppet regime set up what looked like a substitute government today to speed sweeping reforms obviously designed to forestall further workers' rebellion against communism.

With apparent Soviet approval—perhaps given him as a last chance to survive—the East zone's satellite Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl announced formation of a special "operative commission" with full power to initiate the drive through measures designed to cool the fires of revolt by improving the lot of the common man.

The commission's job—the Reds said its makeup and size were still being worked out—was in effect to spin East Germany's wretched economy back towards capitalism.

Collapse of Drive

Preliminary plans made public by the Grotewohl cabinet last night spelled the final collapse of the all-out communism drive that started last summer and

Water Department Sets Up New Rules For Sprinkling Use

The local water department today announced new regulations for the use of hoses and sprinkling devices to become immediately effective.

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, the notice said, all consumers on even-number sides of streets will use hoses and sprinklers and on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays those on odd-number sides of streets will make use of the watering hours.

The sprinkling time is still from 7 to 9 a. m., and 7 to 9 p. m.

This, the notice said, "will give all consumers 12 hours of sprinkling a week, and the cooperation of each consumer is requested in the strict observance of this regulation.

The notice said "The above regulations are being tried to en-

More Room Needed in Schools For Two Years, Board Hears

Congestion Felt Most in Schools 5 and 6 and Washington Building

Need for expanded school facilities will be felt at the start of the next term and extended to at least 1954, Arthur J. Laidlaw, local school superintendent revealed at an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education last night.

Laidlaw said Schools 5, 6 and the newly built George Washington School will require most immediate attention.

School No. 7, relieved of congestion by the opening of the George Washington School, will have only three extra rooms, and next year new second grades will be necessary in Schools 6 and 7.

Two Grades Required

Two new first grades will be required in the George Washington School, and new teachers will be needed for the seventh and eighth grades in the Myron J. Michael school.

Last year, the superintendent said, six new teachers were necessary in the school system. Such additions, he said, usually require an additional class room.

Despite the fact that half of the enrollment at School No. 7 went to the George Washington School a year and a half ago, the school, with its three available rooms, figures unimportantly in solving the problems ahead.

Facilities at School No. 7 now accommodate kindergarten and sixth grade pupils.

Decision Put Off On KHS Principal

New Paltz Woman Hired as Supervisor in Elementary Schools

The Board of Education last night appointed Mrs. Marion P. Gregory, of New Paltz as a supervisor in the elementary schools, but deferred decision on the selection of a high school principal.

The board approved the raising of $120,000 in anticipation of taxes, accepted the resignation of three teachers and set July 1 as the date of its annual meeting. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., instead of in the afternoon as in the past.

School Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw reported the school lunch program the most successful, to date, because of large quantities of surplus foods received from the federal government.

The board voted to transfer the bleachers at the municipal stadium to the city and approved the ordering of supplies and equipment for the visual education department.

On Probationary Basis

Mrs. Gregory's appointment as a supervisor in the elementary schools is on a probationary basis. Her salary is to be $4,000 a year, and the appointment is effective Sept. 8.

Mrs. Gregory has had 14 years teaching experience on all grade levels in schools at Amagansett, L. I., Armonk, Clintondale, Aberdeen, S. D., and in the Campus School at New Paltz. She attended the Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, for two years, completed requirements for an A.B. degree at Albany State Teachers College in 1935, and the requirements for an M.S. degree in Elementary Education and Supervision at New Paltz State Teachers College in 1953. She has completed 18 graduate hours of credit at New York University.

Miss Bestle Retires

The board accepted "with regret" the resignation of Miss Kathryn V. Bestle, of the high school faculty, who is retiring after 35 years of teaching, 33 of which, have been in the local public schools.

The resignation of Harry T. Gumaer as principal of the Myron J. Michael School, was also accepted. It is effective June 30 and he is to go to Fairlawn, N. J. Also accepted was the resignation of William Limbacher, attendance and study hall teacher at the high school.

The board voted to purchase from William O'Reilly, Inc., four record players and a motion picture projector at $645. The projector purchase included the exchange of an older type projector.

Three Magnachords are to be purchased from Chief Electronics, Inc., Poughkeepsie, at $635, and four microphones with four stands are to be bought from Harvey Radio, Inc., New York, at $176. From Arace Electronics Distributors, this city, the board voted to buy recording tape, two S.V.E. Instructors 300 combination film strip and slide projector and three screens, 52 by 70 inches, at $671.40.

The board voted to purchase pens, pencils and erasers and general supplies from the J. L. Hammett Co., at $1,966. Other bidders were Bardeen's, Inc., $2,142.13 and Milton Bradley Co., $2,084.91.

Bus Contract Awarded

The Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corp., was awarded the contract to transport children from Wilbur to the George Washington School. The company's bid was $16 a day and $2.25 a day for kindergarten pupils. The Perry Taxi Co., bid $36.50 a day and $1 a day for the kindergarten pupils.

Superintendent Laidlaw reported that the school luncheon program had been at its best since the receiving of the surplus foods in March. Its cash account as of

Janitor Confesses To Setting Blaze Killing 3 Women

Boston, June 26 (AP)—A slightly-built janitor was held in $100,000 bail today after, police said, he admitted setting fire to a Back Bay apartment house in which three elderly women perished Wednesday morning.

William E. Valcourt, 52, of the Roxbury District, was booked on suspicion of arson and homicide after police Capt. Francis G. Wilson said he broke down under long questioning and made a full oral statement.

Wilson quoted Valcourt as saying he had been offered $100 to set the fire.

Shortly before midnight, the man Valcourt said offered him the money was booked as Edward A. Reynolds, 56, on charges of suspicion of accessory to arson in

Big House Burns At Ulster Heights

Investigation Being Made by State Police; No One Is Injured

An unoccupied three - story rooming house at the Jacob Raskin bungalow colony on Cape road, Ulster Heights, was destroyed by a fire of unknown origin early today.

The Ellenville Fire Department was summoned about 2:55 a. m., but were unable to save the 15-room building from the fire, which had gained considerable headway before the arrival of the firemen.

An investigation by state police of the Ellenville station is in progress in an attempt to learn the cause of the blaze, the troopers reported today.

No estimate of the loss was available today. Fire Chief George Tremper of Ellenville was to consult with Raskin tonight to determine the amount of damage.

State police said no one was in the building at the time of the fire, and no personal injuries were reported.

Shipment Starts East

Washington, June 26 (AP) — The first installment of a million-ton gift of wheat from the U. S. starts for Pakistan today. President Eisenhower yesterday signed into law the bill making the grant, out of surplus stocks bought by the government. He said, "Our sincere hopes for peace and property go with this grain." Congress took only 15 days to complete action on the President's request for emergency supplies to avert famine in drouth-stricken Pakistan.

Says He Feared Arrest

London, June 26 (AP) —Capt. Jan Cwiklinski, 55, escaped master of the Red Polish liner Batory, said today he jumped his ship in England becaues he feared arrest on spy charges. The skipper told a news conference "I was warned by friends." He added: "Polish Communist authorities are very suspicious about anyone in contact with foreigners, especially English speaking foreigners."

Police Kill Burglar

New York, June 26 (AP)—Police shot one man to death and arrested four others last night in breaking up an attempted burglary in an A. and P. store in the Bronx. The man killed was identified tentatively as Tony Pizzuto, about 24, of 235 East 150th street, the Bronx. He was brought down by two shots in the body.

Washington, June 26 (AP) — Gen. John R. Hodge, 60, chief of army field forces, will retire June 30 after more than 35 years of service, the army announced today.

South Koreans Repulse Major Portion of Attackers; Two MIGs Downed

Seoul, June 26 (AP)—At least 13,000 Chinese Reds hit allied lines on both ends of the Korean battlefront today, but hard-fighting South Koreans hurled back most of 10,000 Communists who atacked eight strategic outposts in the west.

U. S. Sabre jets shot down two Communist MIG jets and damaged one in air battles over North Korea this afternoon.

The big-scale assaults opened the fourth year of war on this battered peninsula.

Heavy Fighting Rages

Heavy fighting still raged on the east-central front where 3,000 Communists attacked ROK positions near the junction of the Pukhan and Kumsong rivers.

It was in this sector that 30,000 Chinese shoved allied lines back at least two miles two weeks ago in the biggest Red assault in two years.

The Eighth Army said the new attacks left U. S. and other foreign troops virtually untouched and concentrated on ROK positions.

Falls on Allied Lines

The main weight of the Red assault fell on allied lines blocking one of the old invasion routes to Seoul. But the army said most of the Chinese were thrown back from eight important hill outposts west of Yonchon, in the Little Nori and Old Baldy sector.

Incomplete reports from the front said the Reds had lost 3,700 men killed and wounded up to 7 a. m.

The South Koreans lost some ground during the night, but regrouped and counter-attacked, driving the Reds down the hills, the army said.

South Korean officers said the Chinese poured an estimated 50,000 artillery and mortar shells into allied lines before the western front attack began.

Decision Is Reserved

Albany, June 26 (AP)—A committee of the State Board of Regents has reserved decision on whether the Communist party should be declared subversive and its members automatically barred from jobs in the public school system. The three-man committee, which has been holding hearings on the issue since last December, heard final arguments yesterday by its counsel and that of the New York State Communist party. The group is not expected to make its recommendation to the full board of Regents before September.

Grover Speaks to Kiwanis

Dr. Milton M. Grover, director of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic, was the speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday. Kiwanis Vice President Hubert Hoderath presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, N. Jansen Fowler, who with other members of the local club attended the annual convention of Kiwanis International in New York city this week.

House Passes Bill

Washington, June 26 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the President today a bill permitting the death penalty for espionage for six months beyond the present emergency. The existing basic espionage law does not authorize death sentences for spying against the U. S. in peace time. The maximum penalty is 20 years imprisonment.

Hurley to Open Old Houses For Inspection on July 25

Old stone houses in Hurley will be open for public inspection this year on Saturday, July 25, during the hamlet's annual open house sponsored by the Hurley Reformed Church.

Pre-Revolutionary and other stone houses will be included among those open to the public. Proceeds will go to the church.

Two of the interesting houses included in the group are the one in which the Council of Safety of the state held its sessions after the burning of Kingston in 1777, and the so-called Spy House, or Old Guard House, used as a prison by the Continental Army. Eight or 10 other historic houses will be open for inspection, along with the comparatively new bluestone house of Harold Davis, said to be an "exact reproduction" of the Colonial period home.

In connection with the inspection, a cafeteria meal will be served at the church from 12:30 until 7 p. m., with ladies in Dutch costume there to serve.

In addition to the 8:15 a. m. service, the Old Dutch Church offers two other regular services: the Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., and a second worship service with sermon at 10:50 o'clock.

Other sermon themes by Mr. Oudemool are: June 28, Impressions after 20 Years in the Ministry; July 12, Relax and Renew Your Strength; July 19, Live on the Happy Side of Life; July 26, If You Have This You Have Everything.

The Old Dutch Church, founded in 1659, on the historic site of the Old Stockade, is open daily for prayer, meditation and visiting.

The Church school picnic will be held Saturday, June 27, from 3 p. m. until dark, in Forsyth Park. The entire congregation is invited. There will be games in the afternoon for children. Families are asked to bring supper, and beverage and dessert will be provided.

Sunday school departments, including the Men's Seminar, will meet each Sunday through the summer.

Wadlin, Loughran Tributes Read at Special Session

Resolutions were introduced yesterday at the special session of the state legislature in Albany relative to the deaths of two area men prominent in civic life.

One extolled the 12-year service of Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, Highland, and called for the Assembly to adjourn out of respect to him at the end of the session.

The other resolution praised the late John T. Loughran, Kingston, chief judge of the court of appeals, as serving with distinction as a member of the court, calling him one of the state's most distinguished jurists.

The Loughran resolution was introduced by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city, who returned to the rigorous post of Senate majority leader, after a siege of illness that hospitalized him for some time.

Wick's resolution called for the special session of the legislature to adjourn out of respect to the late Chief Judge Loughran at the conclusion of the business calendar.

Three of the Assembly's 150 seats were vacant at the special session yesterday because of death. Republican Harold D. Toomey of Mt. Vernon died in Albany during the regular session last winter. Republican John E. Wadlin, Highland, and Democrat John Smolenski of Brooklyn died since the 1953 session adjourned last March.

Their deaths changed the Republicans' original 98-52 voting margin in the larger chamber to 96-51. The GOP's Senate superiority remains at 37-19.

The resolution on Assemblyman Wadlin was introduced by Assemblyman Allan P. Sill of Massena and said:

Whereas, The Assembly of the State of New York has learned with profound sorrow of the death of Honorable John F. Wadlin who ably represented the County of

Legislature Pushes Ahead On Crime Bills

Albany, June 26 (AP)—An upstate Republican revolt against Gov. Dewey's uniform jury system bill spread today and a conference of GOP senators was called to try to stem the outbreak.

It was the only measure in Dewey's anti-crime program that was not certain to win approval of the Legislature before adjournment of the special session tonight.

Democratic legislative leaders told GOP chiefs the minority was joining the Republican rebels in opposition to the jury oill.

This was a switch, as the Democrats had endorsed the measure prior to the opening of the extraordinary session yesterday.

One Republican senator, who did not wish to be identified by name, indicated the Dewey administration was applying pressure to whip the revolters into line—or at least enough of them to get the bill through.

Counties Are Cited

The opposition reportedly included lawmakers from Monroe, Tioga, Erie, Seneca, Westchester and Schuyler counties.

The chief objection to the bill appeared to be that it would broaden the sources from which the names of prospective jurors could be obtained.

It would eliminate a requirement that a juror must own real property. And it provides that no one shall be called for jury duty more than once every two years. The bill strikes in other ways also at cozy arrangements some counties have for picking jury panels.

Some foes of the bill said they had not had time to study it. They noted it would not take effect until July 1, 1954, and they asked: "What's the hurry now?"

Approved by Assembly

The other bills in the series submitted by Dewey, for action at the special session, to improve the administration of criminal justice and strengthen the governor's powers to deal with organized crime and corruption, were approved overwhelmingly by the Assembly yesterday. These would:

1. Create the office of state crime commissioner.

2. Permit a district attorney to apply to the Appellate Division for authority to try a criminal case in a county other than his own. Both houses passed this measure.

3. Broaden the governor's power to oust mayors and police chiefs for misconduct in office. Some city charters now prevent the governor from acting.

4. Require motions relating to special investigations be made before the judge appointed to preside at a special trial term. This is believed to have stemmed from the Saratoga gambling probe.

5-6. Establish a uniform procedure for granting immunity to witnesses in investigations. Two bills deal with the subject.

House Passes Bill

Washington, June 26 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the President today a bill permitting the death penalty for espionage for six months beyond the present emergency. The existing basic espionage law does not authorize death sentences for spying against the U. S. in peace time. The maximum penalty is 20 years imprisonment.

President's Aide Says He Hopes for Gains

Text of Urgent Communication to Be Given Public Airing, He Tells Press

Seoul, June 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower's truce troubleshooter conferred with stubborn Syngman Rhee today and scheduled another talk tomorrow amid hints they might reach an understanding on a Korean truce.

The second meeting is expected to be held in the afternoon.

The emissary, assistant U. S. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, talked with Rhee for two hours and 45 minutes. Robertson told newsmen:

"We hope we are making progress in removing misunderstandings."

Robertson delivered a secret urgent message from President Eisenhower and U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Duiles. He would not hint of its contents, but said the text would be made public later.

The Korean Public Information Office quoted Rhee as saying the discussion had been "very good" and that an understanding might be reached.

Beyond that, there were no indication of how much they had eased the crisis created by Rhee's insistence on drastic revision of the armistice terms—all but signed by the UN command and the Communists after nearly two years of hard bargaining.

Last Obstacle Renewed

The truce teams on June 9 had their last major obstacle to an armistice when they agreed to a formula for disposing of Chinese and North Korean war prisoners refusing to return to Red rule.

However, the expected formalities for announcing complete agreement were interrupted spectacularly by the release and escape of more than 27,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners last week on Rhee's orders.

Rhee insisted his government would never accept an armistice on present terms. He demanded withdrawal of all foreign troops and a mutal security pact with the United States as his "minimum conditions."

Pays Hurried Visit

Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, paid Rhee a hurried visit earlier this week, but the 78-year-old chief executive didn't budge. South Korean demonstrations against a truce became larger.

And on the battlefront, 13,000 Communists attacked on the western and eastern fronts, but the major Red blow on the western end of the line was thrown back. Eastern fighting raged on.

Meanwhile, South Korean officials and foreign diplomats showed more than passing interest in President Eisenhower's reported willingness to send a man high in the U. S. government to talk truce terms with Rhee.

Sources close to Rhee suggested he would not be unwilling to meet Eisenhower outside Korea, although Eisenhower gave no indication he would attend such a meeting.

'Might Be Alliance'

National Assembly Vice Speaker Yoon Chi Yung said "there might be a possibility" of an alliance between South Korea and Nationalist China if a truce is signed and South Korea fights on alone. Reports circulated that secret talks might be under way to bring in five Nationalist divisions to replace U. S. forces in case of a separate truce.

It was in this tense atmosphere that Robertson began his conferences with Rhee.

After the first conference, Rhee said "Mr. Robertson has brought good ideas and our mutual understanding is being greatly improved."

In the afternoon Robertson called on Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, one of the most outspoken opponents of a truce.

Pyun said later, "helpful vistas were opened."

Releases Replies

Just before the conference, Rhee released written replies to questions from the Associated Press.

Asked to list his "minimum conditions" for accepting a truce at this time, Rhee answered:

"Simultaneous withdrawal of both the Chinese and UN forces from Korea and a mutual security pact to be signed between the U. S. and the Republic of Korea. * * * Another proposal is that the political conference (after an armistice) be limited to a period of three months so that if no satisfactory result is agreed upon at the end of that period the armistice will be considered ended."

Asked whether he planned to release the 8,000 anti-Communist

Grotewohl Forms Special 'Operative Commission' to Cool Revolt of Populace

Berlin, June 26 (AP)—East Germany's Russian puppet regime set up what looked like a substitute government today to speed sweeping reforms obviously designed to forestall further workers' rebellion against communism.

With apparent Soviet approval —perhaps given him as a last chance to survive—the East zone's satellite Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl announced formation of a special "operative commission" with full power to initiate the drive through measures designed to cool the fires of revolt by improving the lot of the common man.

The commission's job—the Reds said its makeup and size were still being worked out—was in effect to spin East Germany's wretched economy back towards capitalism.

Collapse of Drive

Preliminary plans made public by the Grotewohl cabinet last night spelled the final collapse of the all-out communism drive that started last summer and

Water Department Sets Up New Rules For Sprinkling Use

The local water department today annotinced new regulations for the use of hoses and sprinkling devices to become immediately effective.

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, the notice said, all consumers on even-number sides of streets will use hoses and sprinklers and on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays those on odd-number sides of streets will make use of the watering hours.

The sprinkling time is still from 7 to 9 a. m., and 7 to 9 p. m.

This, the notice said, "will give all consumers 12 hours of sprinkling a week, and the cooperation of each consumer is requested in the strict observance of this regulation.

The notice said "The above regulations are being tried to en-

Decision Put Off On KHS Principal

New Paltz Woman Hired as Supervisor in Elementary Schools

The Board of Education last night appointed Mrs. Marion P. Gregory, of New Paltz as a supervisor in the elementary schools, but deferred decision on the selection of a high school principal.

The board approved the raising of $120,000 in anticipation of taxes, accepted the resignation of three teachers and set July 1 as the date of its annual meeting. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., instead of in the afternoon as in the past.

School Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw reported the school lunch program the most successful, to date, because of large quantities of surplus foods received from the federal government.

The board voted to transfer the bleachers at the municipal stadium to the city and approved the ordering of supplies and equipment for the visual education department.

On Probationary Basis

Mrs. Gregory's appointment as a supervisor in the elementary schools is on a probationary basis. Her salary is to be $4,000 a year, and the appointment is effective Sept. 8.

Mrs. Gregory has had 14 years teaching experience on all grade levels in schools at Amagansett, L. I., Armonk, Clintondale, Aberdeen, S. D., and in the Campus School at New Paltz. She attended the Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, for two years, completed requirements for an A.B. degree at Albany State Teachers College in 1935, and the requirements for an M.S. degree in Elementary Education and Supervision at New Paltz State Teachers College in 1953. She has completed 18 graduate hours of credit at New York University.

Miss Bestle Retires

The board accepted "with regret" the resignation of Miss Kathryn V. Bestle, of the high school faculty, who is retiring after 35 years of teaching, 33 of which, have been in the local public schools.

The resignation of Harry T. Gumaer as principal of the Myron J. Michael School, was also accepted. It is effective June 30 and he is to go to Fairlawn, N. J. Also accepted was the resignation of William Limbacher, attendance and study hall teacher at the high school.

The board voted to purchase from William O'Reilly, Inc., four record players and a motion picture projector at $645. The projector purchase included the exchange of an older type projector.

Three Magnachords are to be purchased from Chief Electronics, Inc., Poughkeepsie, at $635, and four microphones with four stands are to be bought from Harvey Radio, Inc., New York, at $176. From Arace Electronics Distributors, this city, the board voted to buy recording tape, two S.V.E. Instructors 300 combination film strip and slide projector and three screens, 52 by 70 inches, at $671.40.

The board voted to purchase pens, pencils and erasers and general supplies from the J. L. Hammett Co., at $1,966. Other bidders were Bardeen's, Inc., $2,142.13 and Milton Bradley Co., $2,084.91.

Bus Contract Awarded

The Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corp., was awarded the contract to transport children from Wilbur to the George Washington School. The company's bid was $16 a day and $2.25 a day for kindergarten pupils. The Perry Taxi Co., bid $36.50 a day and $1 a day for the kindergarten pupils.

Superintendent Laidlaw reported that the school luncheon program had been at its best since the receiving of the surplus foods in March. Its cash account as of

Congestion Felt Most in Schools 5 and 6 and Washington Building

Need for expanded school facilities will be felt at the start of the next term and extended to at least 1954, Arthur J. Laidlaw, local school superintendent revealed at an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education last night.

Laidlaw said Schools 5, 6 and the newly built George Washington School will require most immediate attention.

School No. 7, relieved of congestion by the opening of the George Washington School, will have only three extra rooms, and next year new second grades will be necessary in Schools 6 and 7.

Two Grades Required

Two new first grades will be required in the George Washington School, and new teachers will be needed for the seventh and eighth grades in the Myron J. Michael school.

Last year, the superintendent said, six new teachers were necessary in the school system. Such additions, he said, usually require an additional class room.

Despite the fact that half of the enrollment at School No. 7 went to the George Washington School a year and a half ago, the school, with its three available rooms, figures unimportantly in solving the problems ahead.

Facilities at School No. 7 now accommodate kindergarten and sixth grade pupils.

Janitor Confesses To Setting Blaze Killing 3 Women

Boston, June 26 (AP)—A slightly-built janitor was held in $100,000 bail today after, police said, he admitted setting fire to a Back Bay apartment house in which three elderly women perished Wednesday morning.

William E. Valcourt, 52, of the Roxbury District, was booked on suspicion of arson and homicide after police Capt. Francis G. Wilson said he broke down under long questioning and made a full oral statement.

Wilson quoted Valcourt as saying he had been offered $100 to set the fire.

Shortly before midnight, the man Valcourt said offered him the money was booked as Edward A. Reynolds, 56, on charges of suspicion of accessory to arson in

Arson Still Probed

A state police investigation of suspected arson in Krumville on June 17 is still being held open, with no developments reported up to today, according to Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly, BCI. Reilly and Cpl. Ray Dunn of Phoenicia were called in to investigate after fire destroyed a barn a short distance from a gasoline station in which a cot was found burned.

Hurley to Open Old Houses For Inspection on July 25

Old stone houses in Hurley will be open for public inspection this year on Saturday, July 25, during the hamlet's annual open house sponsored by the Hurley Reformed Church.

Pre-Revolutionary and other stone houses will be included among those open to the public. Proceeds will go to the church.

Two of the interesting houses included in the group are the one in which the Council of Safety of the state held its sessions after the burning of Kingston in 1777, and the so-called Spy House, or Old Guard House, used as a prison by the Continental Army. Eight or 10 other historic houses will be open for inspection, along with the comparatively new bluestone house of Harold Davis, said to be an "exact reproduction" of the Colonial period home.

In connection with the inspection, a cafeteria meal will be served at the church from 12:30 until 7 p. m., with ladies in Dutch costume there to serve.

In addition to the 8:15 a. m. service, the Old Dutch Church offers two other regular services: the Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., and a second worship service with sermon at 10:50 o'clock.

Other sermon themes by Mr. Oudemool are: June 28, Impressions after 20 Years in the Ministry; July 12, Relax and Renew Your Strength; July 19, Live on the Happy Side of Life; July 26, If You Have This You Have Everything.

The Old Dutch Church, founded in 1659, on the historic site of the Old Stockade, is open daily for prayer, meditation and visiting.

The Church school picnic will be held Saturday, June 27, from 3 p. m. until dark, in Forsyth Park. The entire congregation is invited. There will be games in the afternoon for children. Families are asked to bring supper, and beverage and dessert will be provided.

Sunday school departments, including the Men's Seminar, will meet each Sunday through the summer.

Wadlin, Loughran Tributes Read at Special Session

Resolutions were introduced yesterday at the special session of the state legislature in Albany relative to the deaths of two area men prominent in civic life.

One extolled the 12-year service of Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, Highland, and called for the Assembly to adjourn out of respect to him at the end of the session.

The other resolution praised the late John T. Loughran, Kingston, chief judge of the court of appeals, as serving with distinction as a member of the court, calling him one of the state's most distinguished jurists.

The Loughran resolution was introduced by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city, who returned to the rigorous post of Senate majority leader, after a siege of illness that hospitalized him for some time.

Wick's resolution called for the special session of the legislature to adjourn out of respect to the late Chief Judge Loughran at the conclusion of the business calendar.

Three of the Assembly's 150 seats were vacant at the special session yesterday because of death. Republican Harold D. Toomey of Mt. Vernon died in Albany during the regular session last winter. Republican John E. Wadlin, Highland, and Democrat John Smolenski of Brooklyn died since the 1953 session adjourned last March.

Their deaths changed the Republicans' original 98-52 voting margin in the larger chamber to 96-51. The GOP's Senate superiority remains at 37-19.

The resolution on Assemblyman Wadlin was introduced by Assemblyman Allan P. Sill of Massena and said:

Whereas, The Assembly of the State of New York has learned with profound sorrow of the death of Honorable John F. Wadlin who ably represented the County of

Farmers Named To Insurance Group

A committee has been named to acquaint Ulster county farmers with the proposed Farm Bureau Life Insurance service owned and controlled by farmers in eight northeastern states including New York.

Members of the committee, appointed by Warren W. Hawley, president of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation, are: Harry Siemsen, R. D. 2, Kingston; Vernon A. Hawley's letter of appointment stated, "It seems clear that as the years pass you will be able to take a great deal of satisfaction in having had a most important part in building what seems certain to become a valuable and important service for farm folks."

The committee will develop plans for acquainting farm families in the county with the new life insurance service to be made available to them.

HOLY GHOST POWER

MACON, GA., MISS O. H. rejoices: "I have received my healing. I was in bad condition. The blessed Holy Ghost made me as happy as I have ever been in my life. I shouted, talked in tongues, and thanked God for my healing. I HAD CANCER. I can never thank you enough for your prayers and handkerchiefs, they bring wonderful blessings.

SANDUSKY, O., MRS. K. reports: "I read and reread your Papers so many times and certainly receive a blessing every time I read them. There is something like electricity going through my body."

CULLMAN, ALA., G. Testifies "Good News! I was healed Saturday around 9 o'clock. My tumor disappeared. Thank God for His healing power and for every prayer you all prayed for me and each handkerchief and message you sent me. My son is in Service, got refilled with the good HOLY GHOST. He had backslid. His wife got saved, so I really am happy."

BRADLEY, W. A., MRS. W. testifies: "We received the handkerchiefs from you, according to Acts 19. We went to a sisters' house, gave her one, saw her a few nights later, she was praising Jesus for her healing. She had passed a large ulcer. Sure enjoy your wonderful messages and the power we feel when 've read them."

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Y. rejoices: "I received one of your Bible Lessons on the Gift of the Holy Ghost. While reading it I got a blessing. Something kept saying to go pray. I did. While on my knees praying, with the door shut, there came a mighty rushing sound as the door opened and someone entered. The door did not open, but Jesus came in. I could feel His arms around me and he filled me with the Holy Ghost. When I opened my eyes, I could see the sleeves of His garment. Oh how beautiful. For a moment it scared me. I tried to get hold of His garment, but He vanished, just as He came. Oh what a blessing. Thanks for your prayers."

WELCH, W. VA., MRS. R. reports: "I received your glorious Record, the joy and healing, praise God, sets your soul on fire for the Lord. It fills with the Holy Ghost power, oh glory, praise God, it increases your faith and brings joy of the Lord in our home, yes the power of God and joy comes in my home every time I read a Bible Lesson, and listen to the JOY Record. I feel like floating in the air. My daughter never believed like me till we got this Record. O glory to God, she believes now, and prays for you good people. I really got a blessing from reading my Paper you sent me.

"Glory, praise God, my soul is happy, and my heart is free, and my children are saved. I was down with my daughter to dinner today, and we got talking about you good people of God, and the power fell, and I just had to shout and praise God. Praise God for the many blessings that have come in my family and in my home.

"Praise God, I want the Second Record, everybody ought to have them, to make their homes happier, and save their souls.

"I couldn't do without those Bible Lessons. If people don't get a blessing when they read those Lessons, there is something wrong. I can read Sister Plunkett's letters, and the tears stream down my face and the power of God runs through my body. Oh, that glorious feeling, praise Jesus."

WEST BLOCTON, ALA., MRS. B. writes: "I know there is power in your paper, for I feel it when I read it. It sure has been a blessing to me. One night when your paper came, my stomach was hurting me so bad, I couldn't hardly stand it. I started reading the paper, it quit and didn't hurt any more."

ROBSON, W. VA., MRS. S. wrote: "One request was answered, my husband got a job. I get a great blessing out of your papers and hankerchiefs. I can see a big difference in my life."

BRISTOL, VA., MRS. R. affirms: "I knew when you prayed for my hands, for it felt like I'd had an electric shock, and I can get my fingers straighter. Please pray again for me. I received wonderful help by reading the Bible Lessons. No. 120 is wonderful, I love to read them every day."

ROBINSON, PA., MRS. L. attests: "I received one of your handkerchiefs about a year ago, and it did me wonders. I had toothache and neuralgia for a long time. I had them day after day, and since I've gotten your handkerchief, I haven't had an ache in my body. Thank you for everything. I thank God for all He has done for me."

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., MRS. S. rejoices: "Did you folks have those handkerchiefs charged with dynamite? When D went to the mailbox and got your letter, he thought 'my what a grand feeling this letter has.' So he opened it up, and when he took hold of the handkerchief, he said he got such a charge of electricity, clear to his elbows. He said if he had stuck his finger in a pocket, he couldn't have felt it any more. So he put one in his pocket, and he hasn't had an ache or pain since. When I came home and began to read your letter, I felt a warm glow go clear down to my toes. A friend came over, and we told her about it, and she said: 'Have you any more?' So here went the 3rd one. She put it over heart, and she felt the power go clear thru her body, and she is getting so well. Thank you again for the handkerchiefs, we felt the power of God so strong in them."

EPPS, LA., MRS. J. T. testifies: "I thank God for healing me. I don't hurt at all. I feel fine and happy. The Lord worked with me so wonderfully, it seemed like I was operated on. I was lying on the bed one night, and it seemed a man came to the bed and stood there and worked on me. I would doze off to sleep, and he would turn something over inside me. When I looked I could not see plain but when I shut my eyes, I could see him. I know that was Jesus working on me. I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

WHIPPLE, W. VA., MRS. W. wrote: "I thank God for you, I had something like a growth on the back of my neck. After I received your handkerchief the growth left. I could feel the power of God in this handkerchief."

CHANDLERSVILLE, O., MRS. HAZEL: "I got so blue and feeling very bad, so I picked up your literature and began to read it. I got wonderfully blessed. I also spoke a few words in tongues."

SMITHVILLE, W. VA., MRS. E.: "Thanks for your wonderful Papers, and prayers, they have helped me so much. I enjoy the Papers so very much. Every time I read one, a tingling feeling goes all over me, I know that is the Lord's presence."

MACON, GA., MRS. G. testifies: "Thank the Lord and you, I had a knot on the top of my left foot, but since I've been wearing the handkerchiefs you all sent the knot has gone completely. I used to suffer with terrific headaches, but they have gone too. I thank you all kindly."

ENFIELD, N. C., from J.: "I have been reading your Papers, and wearing your handkerchiefs since the first of 1950. I had already been in bad health 3 years before, wasn't able to work. I had diabetes, but when I started wearing your handkerchiefs, it disappeared. I had a test last month, able to do all my housework now, and I am still clear of it. I feel very thankful and humble."

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, MRS. G.: "I gave one of your handkerchiefs to a lady who put it in her hat as she had such pains in her head. She said it felt warm all day, and the pain went away. She thanked you, and you sent her a handkerchief and she gave it to an unsaved man and he got saved. The woman that had a cancer or tumor is still all right. She does her own work now."

HOLY GHOST POWER

MACON, GA., MISS O. H. rejoices: "I have received my healing. I was in bad condition. The blessed Holy Ghost made me as happy as I have ever been in my life. I shouted, talked in tongues, and thanked God for my healing. I HAD CANCER. I can never thank you enough for your prayers and handkerchiefs, they bring wonderful blessings.

SANDUSKY, O., MRS. K. reports: "I read and reread your Papers so many times and certainly receive a blessing every time I read them. There is something like electricity going through my body."

CULLMAN, ALA., G. Testifies "Good News! I was healed Saturday around 9 o'clock. My tumor disappeared. Thank God for His healing power and for every prayer you all prayed for me and each handkerchief and message you sent me. My son is in Service, got refilled with the good HOLY GHOST. He had backslid. His wife got saved, so I really am happy."

BRADLEY, W. A., MRS. W. testifies: "We received the handkerchiefs from you, according to Acts 19. We went to a sisters' house, gave her one, saw her a few nights later, she was praising Jesus for her healing. She had passed a large ulcer. Sure enjoy your wonderful messages and the power we feel when we read them."

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Y. rejoices: "I received one of your Bible Lessons on the Gift of the Holy Ghost. While reading it I got a blessing. Something kept saying to go pray. I did. While on my knees praying, with the door shut, there came a mighty rushing sound as the door opened and someone entered. The door did not open, but Jesus came in. I could feel His arms around me and he filled me with the Holy Ghost. When I opened my eyes, I could see the sleeves of His garment. Oh how beautiful. For a moment it scared me. I tried to get hold of His garment, but He vanished, just as He came. Oh what a blessing. Thanks for your prayers."

WELCH, W. VA., MRS. R. reports: "I received your glorious Record, the joy and healing, praise God, sets your soul on fire for the Lord. It fills with the Holy Ghost power, oh glory, praise God, it increases your faith and brings joy of the Lord in our home, yes the power of God and joy comes in my home every time I read a Bible Lesson, and listen to the JOY Record. I feel like floating in the air. My daughter never believed like me till we got this Record. O glory to God, she believes now, and prays for you good people. I really got a blessing from reading my Paper you sent me.

"Glory, praise God, my soul is happy, and my heart is free, and my children are saved. I was down with my daughter to dinner today, and we got talking about you good people of God, and the power fell, and I just had to shout and praise God. Praise God for the many blessings that have come in my family and in my home.

"Praise God, I want the Second Record, everybody ought to have them, to make their homes happier, and save their souls.

"I couldn't do without those Bible Lessons. If people don't get a blessing when they read those Lessons, there is something wrong. I can read Sister Plunkett's letters, and the tears stream down my face and the power of God runs through my body. Oh, that glorious feeling, praise Jesus."

WEST BLOCTON, ALA., MRS. B. writes: "I know there is power in your paper, for I feel it when I read it. It sure has been a blessing to me. One night when your paper came, my stomach was hurting me so bad, I couldn't hardly stand it. I started reading the paper, it quit and didn't hurt any more."

ROBSON, W. VA., MRS. S. wrote: "One request was answered, my husband got a job. I get a great blessing out of your papers and hankerchiefs. I can see a big difference in my life."

BRISTOL, VA., MRS. R. affirms: "I knew when you prayed for my hands, for it felt like I'd had an electric shock, and I can get my fingers straighter. Please pray again for me. I received wonderful help by reading the Bible Lessons. No. 120 is wonderful, I love to read them every day."

ROBINSON, PA., MRS. L. attests: "I received one of your handkerchiefs about a year ago, and it did me wonders. I had toothache and neuralgia for a long time. I had them day after day, and since I've gotten your handkerchief, I haven't had an ache in my body. Thank you for everything. I thank God for all He has done for me."

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., MRS. S. rejoices: "Did you folks have those handkerchiefs charged with dynamite? When D went to the mailbox and got your letter, he thought 'my what a grand feeling this letter has.' So he opened it up, and when he took hold of the handkerchief, he said he got such a charge of electricity, clear to his elbows. He said if he had stuck his finger in a pocket, he couldn't have felt it any more. So he put one in his pocket, and he hasn't had an ache or pain since. When I came home and began to read your letter, I felt a warm glow go clear down to my toes. A friend came over, and we told her about it, and she said: 'Have you any more?' So here went the 3rd one. She put it over heart, and she felt the power go clear thru her body, and she is getting so well. Thank you again for the handkerchiefs, we felt the power of God so strong in them."

EPPS, LA., MRS. J. T. testifies: "I thank God for healing me. I don't hurt at all. I feel fine and happy. The Lord worked with me so wonderfully, it seemed like I was operated on. I was lying on the bed one night, and it seemed a man came to the bed and stood there and worked on me. I would doze off to sleep, and he would turn something over inside me. When I looked I could not see plain but when I shut my eyes, I could see him. I know that was Jesus working on me. I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

WHIPPLE, W. VA., MRS. W. wrote: "I thank God for you, I had something like a growth on the back of my neck. After I received your handkerchief the growth left. I could feel the power of God in this handkerchief."

CHANDLERSVILLE, O., MRS. HAZEL: "I got so blue and feeling very bad, so I picked up your literature and began to read it. I got wonderfully blessed. I also spoke a few words in tongues."

SMITHVILLE, W. VA., MRS. E.: "Thanks for your wonderful Papers, and prayers, they have helped me so much. I enjoy the Papers so very much. Every time I read one, a tingling feeling goes all over me, I know that is the Lord's presence."

MACON, GA., MRS. G. testifies: "Thank the Lord and you, I had a knot on the top of my left foot, but since I've been wearing the handkerchiefs you all sent the knot has gone completely. I used to suffer with terrific headaches, but they have gone too. I thank you all kindly."

ENFIELD, N. C., from J.: "I have been reading your Papers, and wearing your handkerchiefs since the first of 1950. I had already been in bad health 3 years before, wasn't able to work. I had diabetes, but when I started wearing your handkerchiefs, it disappeared. I had a test last month, able to do all my housework now, and I am still clear of it. I feel very thankful and humble."

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, MRS. G.: "I gave one of your handkerchiefs to a lady who put it in her hat as she had such pains in her head. She said it felt warm all day, and the pain went away. She thanked you, and you sent her a handkerchief and she gave it to an unsaved man and he got saved. The woman that had a cancer or tumor is still all right. She does her own work now."

TEMPORARY MAIL PAY RATES

Most Americans realize that the U. S. international air lines, like the domestic lines, draw a partial subsidy from the government. This is how they were helped through the first struggling days, and are still being aided today in lesser degree.

The system is complex, and lately it has shown a tendency to bog down, with seriously hampering effects for the air lines and for America's competitive position on world air routes.

The lines receive what is called mail support. This payment is partly subsidy and partly legitimate reimbursement to the carriers for the mail they carry. Not only must they be paid for bearing the mail load, but for maintaining routes and schedules for air-mail purposes even when traffic does not warrant.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has the job of calculating mail pay rates, which are supposed to be set at a level sufficient to pay for all mail services and include a reasonable subsidy as well.

But evidently this calculation is becoming more and more difficult to make. The CAB is no longer able to tell the international companies just how much mail support they can count on in any given year. So a system of temporary payments on account has grown up, involving millions of dollars annually.

This might not be so bad if the government proceeded to settle up with dispatch at year's end. But it does not. The CAB appears unable to make up its mind in some cases, where these mail support accounts are still unsettled after seven years.

The government has promised to clean up this situation in 1953, and there would certainly seem little excuse for not doing so. American lines like Pan American and TWA are moving into a period of new competition from the jet transports of British and other foreign-flag lines. They must be able to keep pace.

To do that they need financing. But private investors show slight taste for the stocks of companies which cannot tell them what their real earnings are. And so long as their mail pay rates are not fixed, the lines cannot speak with final authority on earnings. If this situation is permitted to drag on much longer, international travelers will be riding in foreign-operated jets and America's carriers will be hauling up the rear.

This would seem a poor reward for companies that have made great strides toward self-support—mail pay now accounts for 20 per cent of air line revenues, as against 56 per cent in 1938. And it would seem also to be very short-sighted national policy, since the strategic military and commercial value of successful U. S. flag lines operating over an international network of routes is clear to everyone.

A department store advertises that they sell the only raincoats that "breathe." When they stock up on umbrellas which can speak up and remind borrowers to return them, we will be interested.

DOUBLE HARVEST TO REAP

As we did for India two years or so earlier, we must now come to the aid of drouth-stricken Pakistan with a substantial grant of wheat.

The need is overwhelmingly clear. The alternative to granting this aid is starvation for many in Pakistan.

The administration has sponsored the proposal, and it merits prompt consideration and approval from Congress.

The United States has the wheat to spare. In fact, the country has a huge surplus which is a handicap to the domestic market, and the outlook would improve if this could be reduced markedly. So from the selfish viewpoint as well as the humanitarian, the grant to Pakistan recommends itself.

Science has determined that women have a lower specific gravity than men. Nothing was said about tempers, we noticed.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A ROOSEVELT KILKENNY

Into my hands has come a document of the Ministry of Information of Great Britain for the use of censors during World War II. It is an instruction to the censors on how news is to be handled concerning American troops in the United Kingdom, and while this document is old and has no current news value, it does give an index to how even war is used for personal and political advantage by American officials. American officials advised the British about matters which could not have concerned the British at all.

The following paragraphs are of the utmost significance:

"Names and identifiable photographs of officers above the rank of lieutenant coloned (in the U.S.A. Air Force only above the rank of colonel), must be referred to U. S. Advisers unless authorized or covered by a release (see Appendix A attached hereto). There is a specific stop on the following:

"Brig. General Theodore Roosevelt and his nephew (he happens to be his son) Quentin Roosevelt; Mr. Henry Wallace, Jr., son of the U. S. Vice-President."

In each case, the name, Roosevelt, is underlined.

The question arises why Theodore and Quentin Roosevelt were so selected of the thousands of officers in the American armed forces: why was a "specific stop" put on these three names—the only three names on the entire list of American officers in Europe.

Theodore was the hero of the Oran landing. He died in France during the war. It is a curiosity of this document that Lieut. Colonel Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son, could be mentioned in news dispatches under the exception made in the quoted paragraphs.

The Hyde Park and Oyster Bay Roosevelts disliked each other, with the single exception of Kermit, who seems to have been a favorite of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was violently antagonistic to his distant cousin, opposing him in New York State and national politics. Yet, the Oyster Bay Roosevelts were of an heroic breed, going to war even as their father did, and liking it.

It is also difficult to understand why the name of Henry Wallace, Jr., was specifically noted for elimination from the news. His father was, at the moment, Vice President of the United States. All the President's children, particularly James and Elliott, at that time, were making constant news and the White House seemed to encourage it. Why was the Vice President's son excluded? Who ordered such a specific censorship? Suppose one of these three had done an act of outstanding heroism—as Theodore actually did at Oran—how could the American people know about it?

This order was carried out so punctiliously that when Theodore acted as best man at Quentin's wedding in London in 1944, the presence of Theodore in England is disclosed as a surprise item in an Associated Press dispatch. The following paragraph is significant:

"He has been in this country for some time and recently was assigned as deputy commander of one of the United States infantry organizations which has completed its invasion training. This information was banned by censorship, however, and was not cleared today until his name appeared in the gossip column of a London newspaper."

Attached to the censorship order, which was issued on November 26, 1942, is a list of "U. S. officers whose names may be published." This list contains such names as General Eisenhower and General Spaatz. This would indicate that the "specific stop" could not have been for purposes of military security, as neither the Oyster Bay Roosevelts nor Wallace were as highly placed or of such military importance as Generals Eisenhower and Spaatz.

A further curiosity is this line:

"Sutton, Col. James F. C.O., USAAF Reconnaissance Unit in which Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt serves?"

Why is this? No similar selection of a junior officer appeared anywhere on the list. Was it designed to give special attention to Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt?

I am sure that my colleague, Westbrook Pegler, could accomplish wonders with this material, particularly with the line: "AUTHORITY: U. S. Advisers D.A.D. (N.V.S.)". He would want to know who the American advisers were and who instructed them to kill off the Oyster Bay Roosevelts and Henry Wallace's son as news items and to emphasize Elliott.

A milder person, I simply ask how any mind could be so concerned with trivia in time of war, when our sons were fighting for their country.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PROTECTING SKIN FROM SUNBURN

A young man consulted his physician about a sore on his lower lip and was surprised to learn that it was caused by the sun. He was advised to put some colorless lipstick on the sore and on the whole lower lip and also to wear a hat with a broad brim pulled down over his eyes. With this protection from the sun and with no further treatment, the sore gradually disappeared.

In the Medical Journal of the United States Armed Forces, Drs. C. D. Bell and W. F. Mazzone state that repeated exposure to sunlight is an occupational hazard for navy personnel. The medical term they give it is "heliodermatitis," sometimes referred to as "sailors skin." It is seen chiefly in the habitually uncovered areas of the body. A peculiar mottled bluish whiteness appears on the lower eyelids, cheeks, lips, backs of the hands and other areas. This background is etched by tiny dilated blood vessels; the number of these dilated blood vessels multiplies if exposure continues. The skin becomes thick, lax, and without luster except on the back of the neck where it is greatly thickened. Here the wrinkles deepen into furrows. Eventually small scaling patches appear which become small hard lumps, which may develop into skin cancers.

Persons prone to sunburn, especially those who blister, are more readily affected and among these most susceptible are the red-haired freckled types." The actinic band of sunlight, around 3,000A, is responsible for the damage to the skin.

Drs. Bell and Mazzone discuss preparations that are used for protection against sunlight and say that para-aminobenzoic acid totally absorbs the ultra violet light between 2,600A and 3,130A. Because it has no action below 2,600A, it will not prevent the initial or first burning of the skin, nor prevent darkening of the skin already present. Because para-aminobenzoic acid is not easily adaptable to common ointment bases, the sodium salt of para-aminobenzoic acid is used because it is soluble in both alcohol and water and can be incorporated into usual or standard pharmaceutical preparations.

Although these naval physicians have in mind the treatment of sailors, many of these sailors are young and have a tender skin. It can be seen how a severe burn on parts of the body not usually exposed to the sun can render them unfit for service for a considerable time.

A little suggestion about protecting the lower lip by thick lipstick and a wide brimmed hat may prevent burn of the lower lip which might turn into skin cancer.

Sorry, Winnie, the Whitewash Doesn't Help!

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — While American public interest has been focused on Korean truce possibilities, recent developments in the Soviet zone of East Germany have been no less significant.

They are highlighted by the latest case in which East German authorities relaxed a production speedup after 20,000 building-trades workers had protested in East Berlin. The mere fact that anybody under a Communist government control can protest against any decree is surprising enough in itself. But the fact that the workmen had their demands met is positively sensational.

It is possible that the long-repressed workers, taking this concession as a sign of weakness, were inspired to the widespread riots that brought out Russian tanks and machine guns and resulted in martial law being declared.

Before this, over the past couple of weeks, West Berlin and West German authorities have been astounded by these other events:

A change from a Russian military commander to a civilian high commissioner.

A halt on expansion of the collectivized farm system

An offer of state bank credits to private businessmen to reopen shops and factories that had been closed down because they offered competition to state industries.

A promise of amnesty and return of property to refugees who would return to East Germany.

A relaxation of controls over the churches, church property, clergymen and church organizations such as youth groups.

Issuance of ration cards to all East Germans, regardless of whether they had Communist party political connections or not.

Conant Stressed Intense Sovietization

The suddenness with which these reforms have been put into effect in this latest turnabout of Communist policy has of course sent all non-Communist government officials searching for motives.

When the U. S. High Commissioner to Germany, former Harvard President James B. Conant, returned to Washington early in June to testify before congressional committees, he made one radio appearance in which he laid stress on the completeness of the separation between East and West Germany.

He emphasized that this sovietization of East Germany had been intensified over the past year. From the very day on which the new "contractual agreement" peace treaty had been signed last May between West Germany and the western allied powers, the Communists began to tighten their hold on East Germany.

The border had been closed at all points except the autobahn and the railroad into Berlin. Collectivization of farms was stepped up. More private industries were closed down. Production quotas on farms and factories were raised to levels impossible to meet.

The result was that the number of refugees fleeing from East Germany to West Germany increased. When West Berlin's Mayor Ernest Reuter was in Washington last March, he reported the refugee stream approaching 60,000 a month. Though Berlin had camps capable of handling 65,000 refugees at a time, the capacity was being increased by 25,000. Only half as many refugees could be airlifted out daily to West Germany as came into Berlin.

All Changed Before Conant Got Back

The main reason given for flight was sovietization of the economy. When their property was confiscated, East Germans felt it was time to leave. Nobody knew what conditions would be tomorrow. Better leave today.

There was general feeling that the split between East and West Germany might last for 10 years. But before Dr. Conant could get back to his post, all this was changed. Communist policy did another one of its inexplicable flip-flops.

The search for motives behind this reversal is as fruitless as most speculation about Communist policy. It is generally recognized that the new policy could be reversed again on no notice.

Why the Communists allowed the refugee stream to pour into West Germany is a mystery. One guess is that the Communists were deliberately trying to aid their zone of anti-Communists in this way. There were wild rumors in Germany last year that the Russians wanted to repopulate East Germany with Russians—or even Chinese.

When the net effect on this policy was that 10 per cent of the East German population had migrated or been sent to concentration camps, food production began to fall off sharply.

East Germany — once Europe's richest breadbasket — may this year have an actual food shortage. This economic factor alone might be sufficient reason for the Communists to relax on their sovietization of East Germany, to lure back the refugee German farmers.

Another motive might stem from an awareness of the anti-communism boiling under the surface. If so, the reforms came too late to prevent the hatred from exploding into the biggest anti-Red riots ever staged in a Communist country.

Question Is Who Is Telling Truth About 'Original Objective' of Korean War?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 26—Who is telling the truth about the "original objective" of the United Nations in the Korean war? Is it Syngman Rhee, or is it the allied statesmen who ignore the written words of the UN resolution of October 7, 1950, and the circumstances under which the UN General Assembly adopted it?

Just a few days before the fateful resolution was passed, the United Nations armies under the command of General MacArthur had been authorized by the allied governments, including Great Britain, to cross the 38th Parallel, and the war was being pursued to a smashing victory over the North Korean Communist armies. Then came the intervention of the Communist Chinese forces, and the UN troops were repulsed because the allies got cold feet and refused to permit General MacArthur to use maximum force to destroy enemy bases by air, an absolute essential in modern warfare.

But the UN did not adopt any other resolution changing in any way its October 7, 1950, declaration. Hence that resolution still stands as the official policy of the UN until it is formally reversed, which would certainly be more candid and forthright than diplomatic quibbling over what plain English words really mean.

Prime Minister Churchill now says it was never intended to unify Korea by force of arms. General Mark Clark, in his third anniversary message this week to his troops—undoubtedly delivered under orders from the Pentagon military politicians who feel they must adhere to the Truman-Acheson line—says the original objective was just to repel aggression at the 38th Parallel. In all candor, if this is true, then the UN forces were themselves aggressors when they crossed the 38th Parallel and they had no business in North Korea at all. Anybody can form his own judgment by reading the exact text of the UN resolution adopted on October 7, 1950:

"The General Assembly,

"Having regard to its resolutions of 14 November 1947 (112 (II)), of 12 December 1948 (195 (III)) and of 21 October 1949 (293 (IV)),

"Having received and considered the report of the United Nations Commission on Korea,

"Mindful of the fact that the objectives set forth in the resolutions referred to above have not been fully accomplished and, in particular, that the unification of Korea has not yet been achieved, and that an attempt has been made by an armed attack from North Korea to extinguish by force the government of the Republic of Korea;

"Recalling the General Assembly declaration of 12 December 1948 that there has been established a lawful government (the government of the Republic of Korea) having effective control and jurisdiction over that part of Korea where the United Nations temporary commission on Korea was able to observe and consult and in which the great majority of the people of Korea reside; that this government is based on elections which were a valid expression of the free will of the electorate of that part of Korea and which were observed by the temporary commission; and that this is the only such government in Korea,

"Having in mind that United Nations armed forces are at present operating in Korea in accordance with the recommendations of the Security Council of 27 June 1950, subsequent to its resolution of 25 June 1950, that members of the United Nations furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel the armed attack and to restore international peace and security in the area,

"Recalling that the essential objective of the resolutions of the General Assembly referred to above was the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic government of Korea,

"1. Recommends that,

"(A) All appropriate steps be taken to ensure conditions of stability throughout Korea;

"(B) All constituent acts be taken, including the holding of elections, under the auspices of the United Nations, for the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic government in the sovereign state of Korea;

"(C) All sections and representative bodies of the population of Korea, south and north, be invited to co-operate with the organs of the United Nations in the restoration of peace, in the holding of elections and in the establishment of a unified government;

"(D) United Nations forces should not remain in any part of Korea otherwise than so far as necessary for achieving the objectives specified in sub-paragraphs (a) and (b) above; . . ."

Going back and rereading the subparagraph lettered "(a)," one finds the UN resolving that the "United Nations armed forces" are to take "all appropriate steps" to ensure "conditions of stability throughout Korea."

It would be more honorable for the UN and its spokesmen to admit frankly its defeat and its surrender to expediency than to claim now it never intended to achieve military control by the UN forces over all of Korea.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In the course of the New York Crime Commission's investigation of rackets and other crime on the New York and New Jersey waterfront poetically known to the denizens thereof as the beach, William J. McCormack, the multi-millionaire contracting stevedore trucker and monopolist of ready-mixed concrete, told of a fire in a garage in which a lot of records of his four principal companies were kept. McCormack is the fabulous Mr. Big of the waterfront.

H. S. Lipman, the official accountant for the commission, reported that the books of four of McCormack's companies revealed a total of $984,908 of cash disbursements without vouchers in five years. He also reported that one company disbursed $19,215 in about 18 months for fine meats, fruit, vegetables and groceries in payment of bills which showed erasures. The words erased were "McCormack," "Waterman," the name of McCormack's married daughter, and "out or town." The McCormacks and Watermans have adjacent homes at Greenwich, Conn., which is out of town. On the books, the provender mentioned in these bills was charged to McCormack's, Penn Stevedoring Co. under various headings.

Witnesses agreed that there was a fire at the plant, all right, but that the building so destroyed was a practically worthless old wooden shed set on a concrete slab which contained, to their knowledge, nothing but empty oil drums. The date was June 13, 1951.

One of these witnesses testified also, however, that Hector McCreery, a vice-president of the concrete company, and E. S. Fennelly, another employe, drove up to the main building about 8 o'clock on a dark night several months earlier and burned a lot of records in a furnace which was used to make steam to operate a derrick. Richard George Gabriel, who worked as superintendent of the plant from December, 1950 to December, 1951, said McCreery and Fennelly came in two automobiles with two other men and that McCreery told him to go out and see if he could find a concrete-mixing truck which was still out on a job.

"They chased me out of the yard," he said. "I took off. That's a hint right there, is it not?"

"Did you observe each of the men carrying a handful of them?" Meaning records from the cars. "I wouldn't say each one but they were carrying the stuff. The guys were carrying stuff in there to burn. Into the boiler room from the car."

Describing the books, Gabriel said: "Accounting books, more or less. That's what they seemed to be to me."

Gabriel said he and the watchman, now dead, were the only persons there when the cars drove up. The fire was banked for the night but "if you throw a piece of paper on there, it burned."

Gabriel said the shed, which burned down a few months later, contained only five empty oil-drums of 55 gallons each in a space about 50 by 30 feet. There was plenty of space in which books could have been stowed, but when he went into the building in February or March nothing was stored there but the drums. There never was anything else to his knowledge.

As to the fire on June 13, Gabriel testified: "We were in the office and we noticed the blaze. By the time the engine came it was practically nothing left of the building."

"Did you call the main office?"

"We notified them right away. They said: 'Let it burn. You called the fire engines too early.'"

"Who told you that?"

"I think it was McCreery if I am not mistaken."

"Then, to your knowledge, during that fire there were no books or records destroyed?"

"Not that I know of."

McCormack testified under oath that he did not know that the crime commission's accountants had been unable to find documentary support of large expenditures of cash by Penn Stevedoring Co.

"Did you ascertain that vouchers of your company were not available for 1947, 48, 49 and 50?"

"No."

"Did you know that those vouchers were supposed to have been destroyed in a fire?"

"No; we had a fire in our Bronx garage."

"Were vouchers kept in the garage up there?"

"All the old papers were kept there."

The examiner said "close to a million dollars" of cash items for "four or five years" were completely unsubstantiated and McCormack said he hadn't known that.

To a point-blank question, McCormack answered with a denial that he had ever ordered McCreery and Fennelly to destroy any records. When he was told that the commission was trying to find these men with subpoenas, he said he didn't know where they were.

Theodore Kiendl, special assistant to the attorney general of the State of New York, now said some entries on Penn's books appeared to be false.

"I refer," he said, "to items aggregating $19,215 charged as corporate expenses covering meat, fruit, vegetables and other groceries delivered to your home and consumed in your home by you and your family, particularly your daughter, Mrs. Waterman. It was charged to dock expenses and office expenses and entertainment."

Of this $19,215, after the headings "McCormack," "Waterman"

TEMPORARY MAIL PAY RATES

Most Americans realize that the U. S. international air lines, like the domestic lines, draw a partial subsidy from the government. This is how they were helped through the first struggling days, and are still being aided today in lesser degree.

The system is complex, and lately it has shown a tendency to bog down, with seriously hampering effects for the air lines and for America's competitive position on world air routes.

The lines receive what is called mail support. This payment is partly subsidy and partly legitimate reimbursement to the carriers for the mail they carry. Not only must they be paid for bearing the mail load, but for maintaining routes and schedules for air-mail purposes even when traffic does not warrant.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has the job of calculating mail pay rates, which are supposed to be set at a level sufficient to pay for all mail services and include a reasonable subsidy as well.

But evidently this calculation is becoming more and more difficult to make. The CAB is no longer able to tell the international companies just how much mail support they can count on in any given year. So a system of temporary payments on account has grown up, involving millions of dollars annually.

This might not be so bad if the government proceeded to settle up with dispatch at year's end. But it does not. The CAB appears unable to make up its mind in some cases, where these mail support accounts are still unsettled after seven years.

The government has promised to clean up this situation in 1953, and there would certainly seem little excuse for not doing so. American lines like Pan American and TWA are moving into a period of new competition from the jet transports of British and other foreign-flag lines. They must be able to keep pace.

To do that they need financing. But private investors show slight taste for the stocks of companies which cannot tell them what their real earnings are. And so long as their mail pay rates are not fixed, the lines cannot speak with final authority on earnings. If this situation is permitted to drag on much longer, international travelers will be riding in foreign-operated jets and America's carriers will be hauling up the rear.

This would seem a poor reward for companies that have made great strides toward self-support—mail pay now accounts for 20 per cent of air line revenues, as against 56 per cent in 1938. And it would seem also to be very short-sighted national policy, since the strategic military and commercial value of successful U. S. flag lines operating over an international network of routes is clear to everyone.

A department store advertises that they sell the only raincoats that "breathe." When they stock up on umbrellas which can speak up and remind borrowers to return them, we will be interested.

DOUBLE HARVEST TO REAP

As we did for India two years or so earlier, we must now come to the aid of drouth-stricken Pakistan with a substantial grant of wheat.

The need is overwhelmingly clear. The alternative to granting this aid is starvation for many in Pakistan.

The administration has sponsored the proposal, and it merits prompt consideration and approval from Congress.

The United States has the wheat to spare. In fact, the country has a huge surplus which is a handicap to the domestic market, and the outlook would improve if this could be reduced markedly. So from the selfish viewpoint as well as the humanitarian, the grant to Pakistan recommends itself.

Science has determined that women have a lower specific gravity than men. Nothing was said about tempers, we noticed.

'These Days'

A ROOSEVELT KILKENNY

Into my hands has come a document of the Ministry of Information of Great Britain for the use of censors during World War II. It is an instruction to the censors on how news is to be handled concerning American troops in the United Kingdom, and while this document is old and has no current news value, it does give an index to how even war is used for personal and political advantage by American officials. American officials advised the British about matters which could not have concerned the British at all.

The following paragraphs are of the utmost significance:

"Names and identifiable photographs of officers above the rank of lieutenant colonel (in the U.S.A. Air Force only above the rank of colonel), must be referred to U. S. Advisers unless authorized or covered by a release (see Appendix A attached hereto). There is a specific stop on the following:

"Brig. General Theodore Roosevelt and his nephew (he happens to be his son) Quentin Roosevelt; Mr. Henry Wallace, Jr., son of the U. S. Vice-President."

In each case, the name, Roosevelt, is underlined.

The question arises why Theodore and Quentin Roosevelt were so selected of the thousands of officers in the American armed forces: why was a "specific stop" put on these three names—the only three names on the entire list of American officers in Europe.

Theodore was the hero of the Oran landing. He died in France during the war. It is a curiosity of this document that Lieut. Colonel Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son, could be mentioned in news dispatches under the exception made in the quoted paragraphs.

The Hyde Park and Oyster Bay Roosevelts disliked each other, with the single exception of Kermit, who seems to have been a favorite of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was violently antagonistic to his distant cousin, opposing him in New York State and national politics. Yet, the Oyster Bay Roosevelts were of an heroic breed, going to war even as their father did, and liking it.

It is also difficult to understand why the name of Henry Wallace, Jr., was specifically noted for elimination from the news. His father was, at the moment, Vice President of the United States. All the President's children, particularly James and Elliott, at that time, were making constant news and the White House seemed to encourage it. Why was the Vice President's son excluded? Who ordered such a specific censorship? Suppose one of these three had done an act of outstanding heroism—as Theodore actually did at Oran—how could the American people know about it?

This order was carried out so punctiliously that when Theodore acted as best man at Quentin's wedding in London in 1944, the presence of Theodore in England is disclosed as a surprise item in an Associated Press dispatch. The following paragraph is significant:

"He has been in this country for some time and recently was assigned as deputy commander of one of the United States infantry organizations which has completed its invasion training. This information was banned by censorship, however, and was not cleared today until his name appeared in the gossip column of a London newspaper."

Attached to the censorship order, which was issued on November 26, 1942, is a list of "U. S. officers whose names may be published." This list contains such names as General Eisenhower and General Spaatz. This would indicate that the "specific stop" could not have been for purposes of military security, as neither the Oyster Bay Rooseveits nor Wallace were as highly placed or of such military importance as Generals Eisenhower and Spaatz.

A further curiosity is this line:

"Sutton, Col. James F. C.O., USAAF Reconnaissance Unit in which Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt serves?"

Why is this? No similar selection of a junior officer appeared anywhere on the list. Was it designed to give special attention to Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt?

I am sure that my colleague, Westbrook Pegler, could accomplish wonders with this material, particularly with the line: "AUTHORITY: U. S. Advisers D.A.D. (N.V.S.)". He would want to know who the American advisers were and who instructed them to kill off the Oyster Bay Rooseveits and Henry Wallace's son as news items and to emphasize Elliott.

A milder person, I simply ask how any mind could be so concerned with trivia in time of war, when our sons were fighting for their country.

That Body of Yours

PROTECTING SKIN FROM SUNBURN

A young man consulted his physician about a sore on his lower lip and was surprised to learn that it was caused by the sun. He was advised to put some colorless lipstick on the sore and on the whole lower lip and also to wear a hat with a broad brim pulled down over his eyes. With this protection from the sun and with no further treatment, the sore gradually disappeared.

In the Medical Journal of the United States Armed Forces, Drs. C. D. Bell and W. F. Mazzone state that repeated exposure to sunlight is an occupational hazard for navy personnel. The medical term they give it is "heliodermatitis," sometimes referred to as "sailors skin." It is seen chiefly in the habitually uncovered areas of the body. A peculiar mottled bluish whiteness appears on the lower eyelids, cheeks, lips, backs of the hands and other areas. This background is etched by tiny dilated blood vessels; the number of these dilated blood vessels multiplies if exposure continues. The skin becomes thick, lax, and without luster except on the back of the neck where it is greatly thickened. Here the wrinkles deepen into furrows. Eventually small scaling patches appear which become small hard lumps, which may develop into skin cancers.

Persons prone to sunburn, especially those who blister, are more readily affected and among these most susceptible are the red-haired freckled types." The actinic band of sunlight, around 3,000A, is responsible for the damage to the skin.

Drs. Bell and Mazzone discuss preparations that are used for protection against sunlight and say that para-aminobenzoic acid totally absorbs the ultra violet light between 2,600A and 3,130A. Because it has no action below 2,600A, it will not prevent the initial or first burning of the skin, nor prevent darkening of the skin already present. Because para-aminobenzoic acid is not easily adaptable to common ointment bases, the sodium salt of para-aminobenzoic acid is used because it is soluble in both alcohol and water and can be incorporated into usual or standard pharmaceutical preparations.

Although these naval physicians have in mind the treatment of sailors, many of these sailors are young and have a tender skin. It can be seen how a severe burn on parts of the body not usually exposed to the sun can render them unfit for service for a considerable time.

A little suggestion about protecting the lower lip by thick lipstick and a wide brimmed hat may prevent burn of the lower lip which might turn into skin cancer.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — While American public interest has been focused on Korean truce possibilities, recent developments in the Soviet zone of East Germany have been no less significant.

They are highlighted by the latest case in which East German authorities relaxed a production speedup after 20,000 building-trades workers had protested in East Berlin. The mere fact that anybody under a Communist government control can protest against any decree is surprising enough in itself. But the fact that the workmen had their demands met is positively sensational.

It is possible that the long-repressed workers, taking this concession as a sign of weakness, were inspired to the widespread riots that brought out Russian tanks and machine guns and resulted in martial law being declared.

Before this, over the past couple of weeks, West Berlin and West German authorities have been astounded by these other events:

A change from a Russian military commander to a civilian high commissioner.

A halt on expansion of the collectivized farm system

An offer of state bank credits to private businessmen to reopen shops and factories that had been closed down because they offered competition to state industries.

A promise of amnesty and return of property to refugees who would return to East Germany.

A relaxation of controls over the churches, church property, clergymen and church organizations such as youth groups.

Issuance of ration cards to all East Germans, regardless of whether they had Communist party political connections or not.

Conant Stressed Intense Sovietization

The suddenness with which these reforms have been put into effect in this latest turnabout of Communist policy has of course sent all non-Communist government officials searching for motives.

When the U. S. High Commissioner to Germany, former Harvard President James B. Conant, returned to Washington early in June to testify before congressional committees, he made one radio appearance in which he laid stress on the completeness of the separation between East and West Germany.

He emphasized that this sovietization of East Germany had been intensified over the past year. From the very day on which the new "contractual agreement" peace treaty had been signed last May between West Germany and the western allied powers, the Communists began to tighten their hold on East Germany.

The border had been closed at all points except the autobahn and the railroad into Berlin. Collectivization of farms was stepped up. More private industries were closed down. Production quotas on farms and factories were raised to levels impossible to meet.

The result was that the number of refugees fleeing from East Germany to West Germany increased. When West Berlin's Mayor Ernest Reuter was in Washington last March, he reported the refugee stream approaching 60,000 a month. Though Berlin had camps capable of handling 65,000 refugees at a time, the capacity was being increased by 25,000. Only half as many refugees could be airlifted out daily to West Germany as came into Berlin.

All Changed Before Conant Got Back

The main reason given for flight was sovietization of the economy. When their property was confiscated, East Germans felt it was time to leave. Nobody knew what conditions would be tomorrow. Better leave today.

There was general feeling that the split between East and West Germany might last for 10 years. But before Dr. Conant could get back to his post, all this was changed. Communist policy did another one of its inexplicable flip-flops.

The search for motives behind this reversal is as fruitless as most speculation about Communist policy. It is generally recognized that the new policy could be reversed again on no notice.

Why the Communists allowed the refugee stream to pour into West Germany is a mystery. One guess is that the Communists were deliberately trying to aid their zone of anti-Communists in this way. There were wild rumors in Germany last year that the Russians wanted to repopulate East Germany with Russians—or even Chinese.

When the net effect on this policy was that 10 per cent of the East German population had migrated or been sent to concentration camps, food production began to fall off sharply.

East Germany — once Europe's richest breadbasket — may this year have an actual food shortage. This economic factor alone might be sufficient reason for the Communists to relax on their sovietization of East Germany, to lure back the refugee German farmers.

Another motive might stem from an awareness of the anti-communism boiling under the surface. If so, the reforms came too late to prevent the hatred from exploding into the biggest anti-Red riots ever staged in a Communist country.

Question Is Who Is Telling Truth About 'Original Objective' of Korean War?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 26—Who is telling the truth about the "original objective" of the United Nations in the Korean war? "Mindful of the fact that the objectives set forth in the resolutions referred to above have not been fully accomplished and, in particular, that the unification of Korea has not yet been achieved, and that an attempt has been made by an armed attack from North Korea to extinguish by force the government of the Republic of Korea;

"Recalling the General Assembly declaration of 12 December 1948 that there has been established a lawful government (the government of the Republic of Korea) having effective control and jurisdiction over that part of Korea where the United Nations temporary commission on Korea was able to observe and consult and in which the great majority of the people of Korea reside; that this government is based on elections which were a valid expression of the free will of the electorate of that part of Korea and which were observed by the temporary commission; and that this is the only such government in Korea,

"Having in mind that United Nations armed forces are at present operating in Korea in accordance with the recommendations of the Security Council of 27 June 1950, subsequent to its resolution of 25 June 1950, that members of the United Nations furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel the armed attack and to restore international peace and security in the area,

"Recalling that the essential objective of the resolutions of the General Assembly referred to above was the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic government of Korea,

"1. Recommends that,

"(A) All appropriate steps be taken to ensure conditions of stability throughout Korea;

"(B) All constituent acts be taken, including the holding of elections, under the auspices of the United Nations, for the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic government in the sovereign state of Korea;

"(C) All sections and representative bodies of the population of Korea, south and north, be invited to co-operate with the organs of the United Nations in the restoration of peace, in the holding of elections and in the establishment of a unified government;

"(D) United Nations forces should not remain in any part of Korea otherwise than so far as necessary for achieving the objectives specified in sub-paragraphs (a) and (b) above; . . ."

Going back and rereading the subparagraph lettered "(a)," one finds the UN resolving that the "United Nations armed forces" are to take "all appropriate steps" to ensure "conditions of stability throughout Korea."

It would be more honorable for the UN and its spokesmen to admit frankly its defeat and its surrender to expediency than to claim now it never intended to achieve military control by the UN forces over all of Korea.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In the course of the New York Crime Commission's investigation of rackets and other crime on the New York and New Jersey waterfront poetically known to the denizens thereof as the beach, William J. McCormack, the multi-millionaire contracting stevedore trucker and monopolist of ready-mixed concrete, told of a fire in a garage in which a lot of records of his four principal companies were kept. McCormack is the fabulous Mr. Big of the waterfront.

H. S. Lipman, the official accountant for the commission, reported that the books of four of McCormack's companies revealed a total of $984,908 of cash disbursements without vouchers in five years. He also reported that one company disbursed $19,215 in about 18 months for fine meats, fruit, vegetables and groceries in payment of bills which showed erasures. The words erased were "McCormack," "Waterman," the name of McCormack's married daughter, and "out or town." The McCormacks and Watermans have adjacent homes at Greenwich, Conn., which is out of town. On the books, the provender mentioned in these bills was charged to McCormack's, Penn Stevedoring Co. under various headings.

Witnesses agreed that there was a fire at the plant, all right, but that the building so destroyed was a practically worthless old wooden shed set on a concrete slab which contained, to their knowledge, nothing but empty oil drums. The date was June 13, 1951.

One of these witnesses testified also, however, that Hector McCreery, a vice-president of the concrete company, and E. S. Fennelly, another employe, drove up to the main building about 8 o'clock on a dark night several months earlier and burned a lot of records in a furnace which was used to make steam to operate a derrick. Richard George Gabriel, who worked as superintendent of the plant from December, 1950 to December, 1951, said McCreery and Fennelly came in two automobiles with two other men and that McCreery told him to go out and see if he could find a concrete-mixing truck which was still out on a job.

"They chased me out of the yard," he said. "I took off. That's a hint right there, is it not?"

"Did you observe each of the men carrying a handful of them?" Meaning records from the cars. "I wouldn't say each one but they were carrying the stuff. The guys were carrying stuff in there to burn. Into the boiler room from the car."

Describing the books, Gabriel said: "Accounting books, more or less. That's what they seemed to be to me."

Gabriel said he and the watchman, now dead, were the only persons there when the cars drove up. The fire was banked for the night but "if you throw a piece of paper on there, it burned."

Gabriel said the shed, which burned down a few months later, contained only five empty oil-drums of 55 gallons each in a space about 50 by 30 feet. There was plenty of space in which books could have been stowed, but when he went into the building in February or March nothing was stored there but the drums. There never was anything else to his knowledge.

As to the fire on June 13, Gabriel testified: "We were in the office and we noticed the blaze. By the time the engine came it was practically nothing left of the building."

"Did you call the main office?"

"We notified them right away. They said: 'Let it burn. You called the fire engines too early.'"

"Who told you that?"

"I think it was McCreery if I am not mistaken."

"Then, to your knowledge, during that fire there were no books or records destroyed?"

"Not that I know of."

McCormack testified under oath that he did not know that the crime commission's accountants had been unable to find documentary support of large expenditures of cash by Penn Stevedoring Co.

"Did you ascertain that vouchers of your company were not available for 1947, 48, 49 and 50?"

"No."

"Did you know that those vouchers were supposed to have been destroyed in a fire?"

"No; we had a fire in our Bronx garage."

"Were vouchers kept in the garage up there?"

"All the old papers were kept there."

The examiner said "close to a million dollars" of cash items for "four or five years" were completely unsubstantiated and McCormack said he hadn't known that.

To a point-blank question, McCormack answered with a denial that he had ever ordered McCreery and Fennelly to destroy any records. When he was told that the commission was trying to find these men with subpoenas, he said he didn't know where they were.

Theodore Kiendl, special assistant to the attorney general of the State of New York, now said some entries on Penn's books appeared to be false.

"I refer," he said, "to items aggregating $19,215 charged as corporate expenses covering meat, fruit, vegetables and other groceries delivered to your home and consumed in your home by you and your family, particularly your daughter, Mrs. Waterman. It was charged to dock expenses and office expenses and entertainment."

Of this $19,215, after the headings "McCormack," "Waterman"

Here Is an Easy Way To Boost Picnic Fun

When your family gets that old picnic "urge" it's time for you to start planning. And here's a tip that will add a little extra fun to your picnic basket. Just drop in a few handy packs of chewing gum. After the picnic lunch, watch that gum disappear. It's like magic! You'll find Dad lounging against a shade tree somewhere, chewing to his heart's content. He knows that the pleasant chewing helps him relax and enjoy those hours away from work. Sis will have some gum too. She likes the clean, fresh feeling it gives her mouth. Of course junior will manage to take care of his share of the gum. He doesn't need a reason, he just loves to chew. And Mom, chewing gum is a healthful, wholesome treat that won't spoil picnic appetites. When you're making up you picnic shopping list, be sure to include plenty of chewing gum for added enjoyment.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Traps Line Path Of Simple Plays

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a recent team match, one declarer found a simple way to make his contract, while the other found an equally simple way to lose it. I like simplicity but I prefer the simple route to success.

Opening lead—♠ Q

As both tables the opening lead was the queen of spades. The successful declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and immediately returned the king of diamonds. The reasoning was simple and direct. One diamond trick had to be lost sooner or later, and South wanted to guard against one obvious danger.

What was that obvious danger? West merely refused to win the first diamond trick.

South now continued by drawing three rounds of trumps, ending with dummy's king. Next he led the queen of diamonds from dummy, discarding a low spade from his own hand.

West could take the ace of diamonds now, but nothing could stop declarer from getting back to dummy with the king of hearts in time to discard his last losing spade on the jack of diamonds.

The unsuccessful declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and then drew three rounds of trumps before leading the king of diamonds. West refused to take his ace, and South was dead as a doornail.

South could not bring in the diamonds, since there was only one entry to dummy (the king of hearts). One entry would be enough to set up dummy's diamonds, but then South would have no way of getting back to dummy in order to cash a high diamond.

As a result of this lack of foresight, South did not lose a diamond trick but was compelled to lose two spades.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Traps Line Path Of Simple Plays

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a recent team match, one declarer found a simple way to make his contract, while the other found an equally simple way to lose it. I like simplicity but I prefer the simple route to success.

Opening lead—♠ Q

As both tables the opening lead was the queen of spades. The successful declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and immediately returned the king of diamonds. The reasoning was simple and direct. One diamond trick had to be lost sooner or later, and South wanted to guard against one obvious danger.

What was that obvious danger? West merely refused to win the first diamond trick.

South now continued by drawing three rounds of trumps, ending with dummy's king. Next he led the queen of diamonds from dummy, discarding a low spade from his own hand.

West could take the ace of diamonds now, but nothing could stop declarer from getting back to dummy with the king of hearts in time to discard his last losing spade on the jack of diamonds.

The unsuccessful declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and then drew three rounds of trumps before leading the king of diamonds. West refused to take his ace, and South was dead as a doornail.

South could not bring in the diamonds, since there was only one entry to dummy (the king of hearts). One entry would be enough to set up dummy's diamonds, but then South would have no way of getting back to dummy in order to cash a high diamond.

As a result of this lack of foresight, South did not lose a diamond trick but was compelled to lose two spades.

Veterans Advised On Return to Jobs

Ex-servicemen recently discharged from service were advised today by Howard Shurter director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency not to hesitate in reporting to their former places of employment in order that they might protect themselves under the provisions of the Federal Re-employment Act.

Shurter pointed out that a veteran has 90 days after discharge in which to apply for reinstatement to his former position.

He said that employes who have left their positions for the purpose of being inducted in, enlisting in, or determining physical fitness to enter the armed forces or for performing training duty in the armed forces also have employment rights. However in these instances the employe must make application for reinstatement within 30 days following release from service.

Former servicemen who have any question relative to their re-employment rights or any other veteran problem are urged to visit Director Shurter at the veterans agency, 32 Main street, Kingston.

Textile Men Are Optimistic, Their Goods Plentiful

New York, June 25 (AP)—Textile men are feeling much better these days. Their private slump seems behind them. Ahead: Stiff competition between the competing fibers—wool, cotton, rayon, nylon and the other synthetics.

Never before were so varied sources of fiber and fabric available. But all hands are issuing optimistic forecasts today.

A bright outlook for the future of wool" is trumpeted by the directors of the Wool Bureau, Inc. They come from Australia, New Zealand and South Africa to join U. S. growers in the fight to protect wool from the onslaughts of the new-made fibers.

"Unusually favorable prospects for good business in 1953," is the view of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York.

"Cotton mills' backlog of orders sold ahead for the next 2½ months and inventories averaging less than three weeks of production," cheers the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. Production in the first quarter of this year topped a year ago by 10 per cent.

"Rayon and acetate shipments running well ahead of last year," says the rayon information center. Last year, however, was a bad one, with shipments slumping.

Big Demand

As for more recent man-made fibers—decron, orlon, dynel, vicara, acrilan, saran and the like—their makers are crowing that demand generally exceeds supplies.

The Wool Bureau thinks the sheep's fiber will stay on top of the heap, but sees plenty of room for the new synthetics as world population continues to grow. It adds: "The production of man-made fibers will serve merely to fill the gap between production of wool and man's needs."

The rayon boys, set back on their heels last year as cotton surged to the front again, admit that in the textile business it's back to pre-war patterns of fierce competition. Shipments of broad-woven rayon and acetate fabrics in the first four months of 1953 topped the same period last year by 69 million linear yards.

Fashion and promotion will be the weapons of the rayon and cotton men as they battle it out.

Cotton Prints Recovery

Cotton print cloth has made an outstanding recovery from the slump of early 1952, with production up 12 per cent, the cotton textile merchants report.

Their association takes a cheerful view of the future of cotton apparel for sportswear and leisure hours. And it is very happy that babies are being born at a rate of 3½ million a year. Soon that will mean "tremendous markets devoted to the teenagers and student groups."

The American Cotton Manufacturers Institute predicts that consumption of cotton in the 12 months ending July 31 should top the previous year by 287,000 bales and reach a total of about 9,422,400 bales.

But cotton has some bad moments, too. Rayon and nylon tire cords have ripped into cotton's once prosperous automobile market. Paper bags have supplanted many cotton bags in industry, and low-priced burlap is another competitor hard to meet in that field.

Competition between fibers, however, has been going on for generations. In 1800 wool was king, topping the use of cotton by 20 to 1. Now cotton beats wool out by 10 to 1.

Both are now challenged by the synthetics. All hands are talking confidence.—But getting ready for an all-out slugging match.

Bicycle Court

Montpelier, Vt. (AP) — Business was good the first day but no money was taken in. At the first session of the new bicycle court seven respondents pleaded guilty to violations of the bicycle ordinance. Sentences ranged from suspension of the right to ride a bicycle to making two or three copies of the ordinance rules and regulations. Complaints included riding a bike on the sidewalk, riding double, or not having proper registration, lights or horn. Police Captain George Conner, who is in charge of the bicycle patrol, reports that he has received fine cooperation from the parents of the young offenders.

Veterans Advised On Return to Jobs

Ex-servicemen recently discharged from service were advised today by Howard Shurter director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency not to hesitate in reporting to their former places of employment in order that they might protect themselves under the provisions of the Federal Re-employment Act.

Shurter pointed out that a veteran has 90 days after discharge in which to apply for reinstatement to his former position.

He said that employes who have left their positions for the purpose of being inducted in, enlisting in, or determining physical fitness to enter the armed forces or for performing training duty in the armed forces also have employment rights. However in these instances the employe must make application for reinstatement within 30 days following release from service.

Former servicemen who have any question relative to their re-employment rights or any other veteran problem are urged to visit Director Shurter at the veterans agency, 32 Main street, Kingston.

Textile Men Are Optimistic, Their Goods Plentiful

New York, June 25 (AP)—Textile men are feeling much better these days. Their private slump seems behind them. Ahead: Stiff competition between the competing fibers—wool, cotton, rayon, nylon and the other synthetics.

Never before were so varied sources of fiber and fabric available. But all hands are issuing optimistic forecasts today.

A bright outlook for the future of wool" is trumpeted by the directors of the Wool Bureau, Inc. They come from Australia, New Zealand and South Africa to join U. S. growers in the fight to protect wool from the onslaughts of the new-made fibers.

"Unusually favorable prospects for good business in 1953," is the view of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York.

"Cotton mills' backlog of orders sold ahead for the next 2½ months and inventories averaging less than three weeks of production," cheers the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. Production in the first quarter of this year topped a year ago by 10 per cent.

"Rayon and acetate shipments running well ahead of last year," says the rayon information center. Last year, however, was a bad one, with shipments slumping.

Big Demand

As for more recent man-made fibers—decron, orlon, dynel, vicara, acrilan, saran and the like—their makers are crowing that demand generally exceeds supplies.

The Wool Bureau thinks the sheep's fiber will stay on top of the heap, but sees plenty of room for the new synthetics as world population continues to grow. It adds: "The production of man-made fibers will serve merely to fill the gap between production of wool and man's needs."

The rayon boys, set back on their heels last year as cotton surged to the front again, admit that in the textile business it's back to pre-war patterns of fierce competition. Shipments of broad-woven rayon and acetate fabrics in the first four months of 1953 topped the same period last year by 69 million linear yards.

Fashion and promotion will be the weapons of the rayon and cotton men as they battle it out.

Cotton Prints Recovery

Cotton print cloth has made an outstanding recovery from the slump of early 1952, with production up 12 per cent, the cotton textile merchants report.

Their association takes a cheerful view of the future of cotton apparel for sportswear and leisure hours. And it is very happy that babies are being born at a rate of 3½ million a year. Soon that will mean "tremendous markets devoted to the teenagers and student groups."

The American Cotton Manufacturers Institute predicts that consumption of cotton in the 12 months ending July 31 should top the previous year by 287,000 bales and reach a total of about 9,422,400 bales.

But cotton has some bad moments, too. Rayon and nylon tire cords have ripped into cotton's once prosperous automobile market. Paper bags have supplanted many cotton bags in industry, and low-priced burlap is another competitor hard to meet in that field.

Competition between fibers, however, has been going on for generations. In 1800 wool was king, topping the use of cotton by 20 to 1. Now cotton beats wool out by 10 to 1.

Both are now challenged by the synthetics. All hands are talking confidence.—But getting ready for an all-out slugging match.

Bicycle Court

Montpelier, Vt. (AP) — Business was good the first day but no money was taken in. At the first session of the new bicycle court seven respondents pleaded guilty to violations of the bicycle ordinance. Sentences ranged from suspension of the right to ride a bicycle to making two or three copies of the ordinance rules and regulations. Complaints included riding a bike on the sidewalk, riding double, or not having proper registration, lights or horn. Police Captain George Conner, who is in charge of the bicycle patrol, reports that he has received fine cooperation from the parents of the young offenders.

Coup in Columbia
162 Market street
Saugerties, N. Y.
June 22, 1953

Editor, The Freeman

Your editorial in today's Freeman shows a dangerous misunderstanding of the situation in its mild condemnation of the Coup in Columbia.

Your declaration that, "it is always deplorable to see men ignore constitutional means of changing their government...," can not be challenged for its truth, but it is not in the least applicable to the Coup. The last election was won by the deposed government only by the grossest fraud which deprived the opposition of the victory which would have been theirs if the count had been honest. There is no means but force to remove dictators who rule by force, and this is what was done in Columbia.

The Columbian Army has a record for being non-political that is not matched elsewhere in Latin America. Its recent action stems from the philosophy, essential to democracy and freedom, that the loyalty of an army should be, not to a dictator or to a government, but to the people and to a way of life. The actions of the Gomez government perverted the constitution and made a farce of democracy. The Columbian Army leaders acted in loyalty to the spirit of the constitution and should be commended for their actions.

To be consistent in your stand on such matters as expressed in this editorial, you would have to condemn the recent demonstrations against the Communists in East Germany and in Czechoslovakia. Dictators do not provide constitutional means for their removal. Force keeps them in power or removes them.

Let us not condemn the leaders of the Columbian army for their action merely because there have been many coups and revolutions in Latin American which have deserved such criticism. Credit where credit is due.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES E. STUART

Aldermen Request Repairs to Streets In Two City Wards

The Board of Public Works Wednesday afternoon referred to Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding requests by two city aldermen for street repairs in their respective wards.

The resolutions, submitted at the June 2 meeting of the Common Council, were from Alderman Robert Cullum of the 12th Ward and Alderman Abram D. Relyea of the 11th Ward.

Cullum's request is for repairs to Granite Court, Grandview avenue, Moore's Lane, Johnston avenue and Upper Pearl street.

Resignation Accepted

The board accepted the resignation of Joseph H. Messinger as a motor equipment operator in the Board of Public Works effective June 6, 1953. The board was advised by the city engineer that John Netter of 111 Andrew street, temporarily employed as an engineering aide grade 1, had terminated his employment as of June 13 as he was a member of the ROTC and had been called into service.

Requests by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. to change the type of fixture on a light pole on West Strand and to remove Pole 2978 on Hurley avenue where the Thruway will cut across were approved by the board.

The board ordered filed a letter from Martin F. Kelly, secretary of the Muncipal Civil Service Commission, advising that a request by Hallinan for reclassification of Frank J. McMahon from engineering aide grade 1 to acting engineering aide grade 2 was approved and he could be employed in that category pending an examination or the survey of the Department of Public Works, whichever came first.

Payments Approved

The board approved a recommendation by the city engineer for payment of $4,991.48 to the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company for construction of a sanitary sewer on Clinton avenue between Henry street and Cedar street with the sum of $767.92 withheld for a nine-month period.

It also approved the city engineer's recommendation for the payment of $2,407 of a total of $2,519.79 due to the same company for construction of a trunk line sewer on Clinton avenue from Cedar street to Henry street.

Raymond L. Whitbeck, chairman of the lighting committee, recommended after investigation that 100 candle power lights be erected on Pole 1120K on Willow street and on Pole 2428K on Augusta street. He declined to recommend, for the present a light on Yeoman street.

Impartial Jury

Denver (AP) — You can't do that! — but the jury did. Judge Robert W. Steele of district court rubbed his eyes and blinked as he read a verdict returned by a jury. The verdict was in favor of a woman who sued for damages due to a car collision and also returned a verdict in favor of the man she sued. The judge called the jury back into court and patiently explained that in a lawsuit only one side can win, not both. The jurors retired again and awarded the woman damages for an injury.

In 1905 when Norway had long been dissatisfied with its union with Sweden, she declared the union dissolved and the separation was made peacefully although war was threatened at the time.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Every businessman, and every investor is spending a good portion of his time today worrying about the slump which doesn't materialize—but which "everybody" is sure will occur "tomorrow."

The Ruminator would like to suggest that there is one trend no one seems to have paid much attention to. It may therefore be the trend which we shall live with for the balance of the year.

Not all hills have sharp crests; some broaden out on top before the road turns down in to the valley.

Economic trends, when drawn on graphs, look like the hills and valleys in a profile map. And when you look back you see that economic trends, like highways through the hilly sections, do not move straight up and down, but wind about. At times they rest on plateaus; again they dip down for brief spells prior to turning up for a further climb. Off to the side of the main highways (the main trend) there are numerous undulating hummocks, which may be thought of as the individual trends of industries within the composite economic trend.

Approaching the top of a long hill you may, as mentioned, find a plateau that extends for some distance before you start downwards.

There are other economic analogies to the highway over a mountain that might be worth ruminating about.

When you are on the plateau you often have a broad view of the country for miles around. You have a geographical perspective, let us say.

But how many of us have an economic perspective when we rest upon a plateau of prosperity? Instead of noting the peaks and valleys that break up around us, we think only that there must be a steep decline ahead—or that the plateau stretches forever ahead of us. Back in the former boom days of 1928-1929 "everyone" thought we were on a permanent plateau and in a "new era." Because of the panics and depressions since then, people in late years have been conscious only that "a steep decline" stretches ahead.

It is almost impossible to hold a balanced perspective of economic trends because you cannot visualize the past as one sees the vistas from a mountain top. In one case you have only recollection, statistics, and graphs to form the vision, whereas if you have forgotten a given scene from a hill-top you merely have to return to refresh your mental images.

Let me give you an example from economic history that illustrates this thought. You hear a great deal today about the fall in commodity prices that is bound to pull the economic structure down.

When you turn back you find that possibly the true golden age of American business was in the 1880's. Economic historians will agree to the selection of this particular decade as a period of significant economic growth. Truly "a golden age." Actually, it lasted slightly longer than 10 years, because it may be dated from our return to the gold standard in January, 1879 to the incidence of the important depression that set in, in 1893. However, it is easier to remember the era as the "1880's."

Well, during that period commodity prices were in a persistent decline.

Using the figures of the American Institute of Economic Research, which lie before me, for the 20-year stretch from the economic hill-top of 1872 to the next peak of 1892 (that is, down into the valley of the 1873-1878 depression, up again to the top of 1892) you find that manufacturing production increased two and one-half times, while commodity prices were falling almost 45 per cent. So you see we have experienced a divergence before.

The Ruminator would be the last one to even faintly suggest that our economic trend will ever rest upon a permanent plateau. But, with the bolstering force of government expenditures running into the towering billions on the one hand, and businessmen fearing a depression on the other (thereby tending to limit over-expansion), we could have a plateau for a longer time than now expected. That is the type of trend—a flat trend—that is not paid must attention to today.

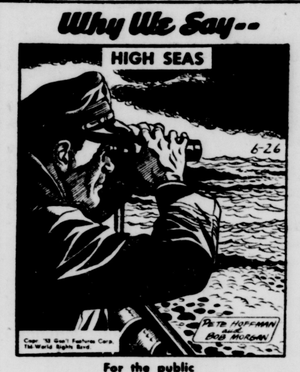

A final note: We talked about the automobile business a week ago, because it comes in for so much discussion today, it being thought that automobiles are being grossly over-produced. Regardless of the shorter profits dealers may be able to make, and the losses they may suffer on used cars, nevertheless if the cars are sold that keeps the plants busy. Employment and wages arise from sales, not from dealers' profits.

George Washington was the most widely traveled American official of his age, says the Naeional Geographic Society.

Why We Say--

For the public
When we refer to the "high seas" we mean all seas which are not the property of a particular country (beyond the three-mile limit). The word 'high' here is in its older meaning of 'public' as it is also used in highways which are really 'public' ways.

Different Kinds of Meteors

Of the meterorites which reach the earth, the large majority are of the stony type, with only a small per cent of iron in them, although most of the meteorites in museums are of the type which contain high percentages of iron.

● This advertisement is the third in a special series which began over a year ago, and which is designed to give you, as a prospective buyer, detailed and helpful information. We'd be happy to have your comments about this type of advertising.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seesaw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.*

Coup in Columbia

Saugerties, N. Y.
June 22, 1953

Editor, The Freeman

Your editorial in today's Freeman shows a dangerous misunderstanding of the situation in its mild condemnation of the Coup in Columbia.

Your declaration that, "it is always deplorable to see men ignore constitutional means of changing their government...," can not be challenged for its truth, but it is not in the least applicable to the Coup. The last election was won by the deposed government only by the grossest fraud which deprived the opposition of the victory which would have been theirs if the count had been honest. There is no means but force to remove dictators who rule by force, and this is what was done in Columbia.

The Columbian Army has a record for being non-political that is not matched elsewhere in Latin America. Its recent action stems from the philosophy, essential to democracy and freedom, that the loyalty of an army should be, not to a dictator or to a government, but to the people and to a way of life. The actions of the Gomez government perverted the constitution and made a farce of democracy. The Columbian Army leaders acted in loyalty to the spirit of the constitution and should be commended for their actions.

To be consistent in your stand on such matters as expressed in this editorial, you would have to condemn the recent demonstrations against the Communists in East Germany and in Czechoslovakia. Dictators do not provide constitutional means for their removal. Force keeps them in power or removes them.

Let us not condemn the leaders of the Columbian army for their action merely because there have been many coups and revolutions in Latin American which have deserved such criticism. Credit where credit is due.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES E. STUART

Aldermen Request Repairs to Streets In Two City Wards

The Board of Public Works Wednesday afternoon referred to Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding requests by two city aldermen for street repairs in their respective wards.

The resolutions, submitted at the June 2 meeting of the Common Council, were from Alderman Robert Cullum of the 12th Ward and Alderman Abram D. Relyea of the 11th Ward.

Cullum's request is for repairs to Granite Court, Grandview avenue, Moore's Lane, Johnston avenue and Upper Pearl street.

Resignation Accepted

The board accepted the resignation of Joseph H. Messinger as a motor equipment operator in the Board of Public Works effective June 6, 1953. The board was advised by the city engineer that John Netter of 111 Andrew street, temporarily employed as an engineering aide grade 1, had terminated his employment as of June 13 as he was a member of the ROTC and had been called into service.

Requests by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. to change the type of fixture on a light pole on West Strand and to remove Pole 2978 on Hurley avenue where the Thruway will cut across were approved by the board.

The board ordered filed a letter from Martin F. Kelly, secretary of the Muncipal Civil Service Commission, advising that a request by Hallinan for reclassification of Frank J. McMahon from engineering aide grade 1 to acting engineering aide grade 2 was approved and he could be employed in that category pending an examination or the survey of the Department of Public Works, whichever came first.

Payments Approved

The board approved a recommendation by the city engineer for payment of $4,991.48 to the Kingston Blacktop, Paving and Construction Company for construction of a sanitary sewer on Clinton avenue between Henry street and Cedar street with the sum of $767.92 withheld for a nine-month period.

It also approved the city engineer's recommendation for the payment of $2,407 of a total of $2,519.79 due to the same company for construction of a trunk line sewer on Clinton avenue from Cedar street to Henry street.

Raymond L. Whitbeck, chairman of the lighting committee, recommended after investigation that 100 candle power lights be erected on Pole 1120K on Willow street and on Pole 2428K on Augusta street. He declined to recommend, for the present a light on Yeoman street.

Impartial Jury

Denver (AP) — You can't do that! — but the jury did. Judge Robert W. Steele of district court rubbed his eyes and blinked as he read a verdict returned by a jury. The verdict was in favor of a woman who sued for damages due to a car collision and also returned a verdict in favor of the man she sued. The judge called the jury back into court and patiently explained that in a lawsuit only one side can win, not both. The jurors retired again and awarded the woman damages for an injury.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Every businessman, and every investor is spending a good portion of his time today worrying about the slump which doesn't materialize—but which "everybody" is sure will occur "tomorrow."

The Ruminator would like to suggest that there is one trend no one seems to have paid much attention to. It may therefore be the trend which we shall live with for the balance of the year.

Not all hills have sharp crests; some broaden out on top before the road turns down in to the valley.

Economic trends, when drawn on graphs, look like the hills and valleys in a profile map. And when you look back you see that economic trends, like highways through the hilly sections, do not move straight up and down, but wind about. At times they rest on plateaus; again they dip down for brief spells prior to turning up for a further climb. This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Swimming Is Still Banned Along 3 Miles of Esopus

The Ulster County Health Department on Thursday afternoon re-opened the Esopus creek to swimming along the nine miles from the entry of the Sawkill creek to the Esopus' mouth, on advice of Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation.

Swimming is still banned along the approximately three-mile length of the Esopus from Kingston to the old fording place at the mouth of the Sawkill.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, county health commissioner, banned swimming along the creek from Kingston to the Cantine dam in Saugerties on June 12, after a serious break in a main trunk sewer on O'Neil street dumped sewage into the creek at the approximate rate of 1.5 million gallons a day.

Sewage Cut Down

The Kingston public works department, working round the clock, succeeded by the night of June 23 in cutting down the amount of flow of sewage to a minimum, Edinger reported.

A survey was made over the length of the creek that was affected by the pollution, Edinger said, by Morris Nussbaum of the Kingston City Laboratory, and Boyd Miller.

Pollution Reduced

The findings of the survey were that there had been a drastic reduction in the pollution, and at the mouth of the Sawkill only one per cent of the total pollution was being recovered.

From that point downstream, conditions were found to be normal.

A total stoppage for the entire length of the Esopus from Kingston downstream, was not found, however, and the ban on swimming was continued for that portion from Kingston to the Sawkill Creek entry.

May Open Creek Later

Recommendations made toward correcting the remaining condition which affects the stream over that comparatively short distance were referred to the city engineer by the board of public works, and if that condition is corrected the entire creek may be opened in time for the resort season.

The nine mile strip opened Friday afternoon covers the most populated portion, and includes a number of private camps as well as several resorts and the Saugerties Bathing Beach.

Nature Helps

The reason the downstream portion of the creek could be considered safe for bathing even while a small portion upstream was polluted was explained by Edinger today, who pointed out that the streams "recover" due to natural purification.

the homicide of three persons, suspicion of conspiracy to commit arson and suspicion of being an accessory before the fact of arson.

Reynolds Also Held

Reynolds also was held in $10,000 bail.

Police identified Reynolds as the real owner of the Isabella street, apartment house which burned and Valcourt as the man who is listed as the owner.

Capt. Wilson quoted Valcourt as saying Reynolds told him recently that he had increased the insurance from $15,000 to $30,000.

Wilson said Valcourt told police: "I emptied a barrel of papers near a stairway, lit a match and then ran out, but I stopped and rang a few doorbells to wake the occupants."

Robertson Has

North Korean prisoners remaining in UN camps since the breakout last week of 27,000 others, Rhee said:

"I have undertaken with the UNC to have our guards cooperate with the Americans—to prevent further outbreaks."

The UN prisoner of war command has already announced that U. S. guards have replaced the ROK guards at all POW camps on the mainland.

Breakout Attempted

Even as Rhee's statement was issued, another breakout attempt was broken up Friday by American guards who shot and killed two anti-Red North Koreans and wounded another at a camp near Pusan.

Rhee said he did not wish to comment at this time on a question of whether the U. S. had notified him it would withdraw military and economic aid if he still refused to go along with a truce.

Asked whether he thought South Korea could fight on alone if U. S. aid were stopped, Rhee said:

"If there is no other way to cease fire than to sign the truce as it is, then I believe it is best for the U. S. to let the Koreans try to save themselves. When the truce is signed, the U. S. can not participate in the fight, but it can allow the Koreans to continue the fighting alone. The Koreans believe they can win the war if they are given the weapons and ammunition and if not, the Koreans want to try anyway."

Rhee Gives Opinion

Asked whether he thought the allies would sign a separate truce with the Communists without South Korea, Rhee replied:

"I do not think the U. S. will, nor do we ask the U. S. to hold the signing of the truce either on the present terms or with some alteration because of Korea's refusal to accept the truce."

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior allied armistice delegate, flew to Tokyo for conferences with Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander.

In Washington, President Eisenhower was reported to have told Senate leaders he is willing to send any man in the American government to confer with Rhee. He reportedly said such a meeting should be held away from the electric atmosphere of South Korea, possibly in Japan or Okinawa.

Eisenhower gave no indication he would go to Korea.

Health Report Cites Need Of Psychologists in Schools

A school health department report submitted to members of the Board of Education noted that "There seems to be an increasingly greater proportion of worried, nervous students in junior and senior high schools," and it said "Considerable comment is made regarding need for full-time psychologists."

There are "more and more nail biters, more demands for excuses from school and classes for psychosomatic symptoms not substantiated by physical findings," the report said.

While this situation "is conditioned mostly by many factors outside of schools, we can probably provide some badly needed therapy, through better understanding of students' aims and abilities."

Need Is Cited

The report signed by Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum, school medical director, said "There is such need" for full-time psychologists; but added "I believe it would be more profitable to offer a course of lectures to be arranged through the State Education Department, Division of Adult Education, and/or Mental Health Division."

Attendance would be compulsory for all under the proposal and "due credit to be given for such post graduate study; and the fields to be covered to include normal and abnormal psychology, normal child development, and the teacher's place in recognition and correction of early deviations. Credit granted for a course of this nature could be considered as part fulfillment under provisions established for teachers' certification and merit."

The report said 99.3 per cent or 6,349 of the city's 6,383 pupils had been examined under the health program and of these 1,235 were "entirely negative," 2,160 shower minor non-reportable defects under observation and 2,954 showed reportable defects.

Facilities Are Lacking

The report on inspections said School No. 6 with 600 enrolled "lacks adequate hand washing facilities, and "milk in most grade schools cannot be properly kept between delivery and use, due to lack of sufficient refrigeration."

The report suggested that milk be delivered and packed in ice or dry ice or a large freezer be provided for each school.

Inspections were made "with particular reference to washrooms, lunchrooms, and food handling. "All schools are well kept, the report said. Facilities are clean, but inadequate.

The lunchrooms are bright, the report said, the food looks appetizing and in the grades the menus are well balanced. In the high school and MJM school the student has free choice.

Legislature Pushes

ures by an overwhelming vote. The Democratic minority voted against the change of venue bill, as did a few Republicans. The Democrats also opposed the bill relating to court motions.

By a party vote, both houses approved amendments to the New York City Transit Authority Law.

One change limits to 5 million dollars a year the amount the authority may spend on capital projects without board of estimate approval. The other confers on the authority certain powers formerly vested in the Board of Transportation.

Water Department

able the present facilities to operate at normal capacity. The water department's first duty is to insure water to its consumers for fire protection and domestic purposes, and it believes that the above plan will, with observance by every consumer, enable some lawn and garden sprinkling to be done. However in the event that excessive use of such as was experienced during the past heat wave, again occurs, it may become necessary to curtail all sprinkling.

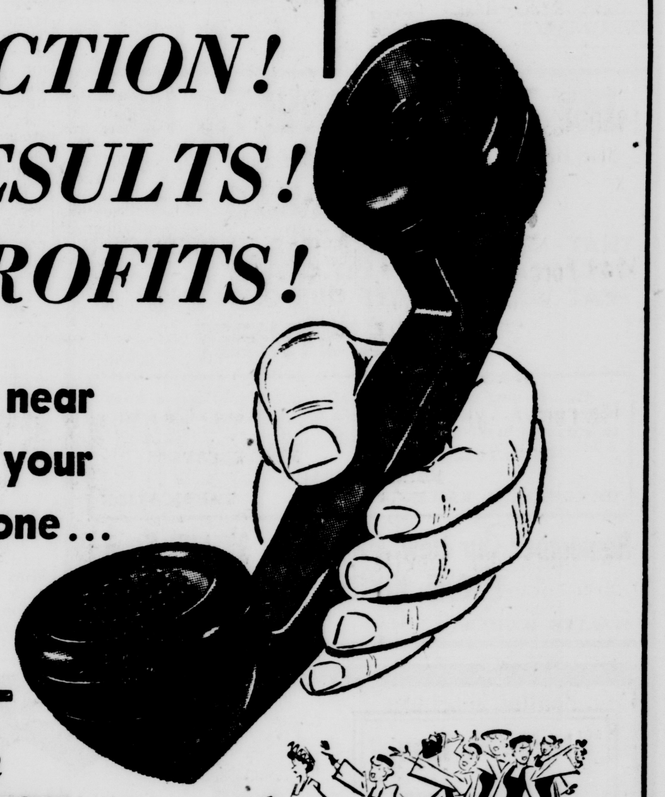

"During the past hot period the city was using nearly half a million gallons of water a day more than can safely be run through the main conduits. The city's reservoirs are full and there is enough water for everyone with judicious use and observance of the regulations by the consumers."

More Room . . .

brary in an upstairs corridor, he said, and by September, 1954 the school "will not have a single room left."

It is expected that School No. 5 will get the children from Colonial Gardens, the city's housing project in the Flatbush avenue area.

Next fall, Laidlaw said, the situation is going to be "very tight, and it isn't going to be long before the school buildings are filled up."

Swimming Is Still Banned Along 3 Miles of Esopus

The Ulster County Health Department on Thursday afternoon re-opened the Esopus creek to swimming along the nine miles from the entry of the Sawkill creek to the Esopus' mouth, on advice of Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation.

Swimming is still banned along the approximately three-mile length of the Esopus from Kingston to the old fording place at the mouth of the Sawkill.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, county health commissioner, banned swimming along the creek from Kingston to the Cantine dam in Saugerties on June 12, after a serious break in a main trunk sewer on O'Neil street dumped sewage into the creek at the approximate rate of 1.5 million gallons a day.

Sewage Cut Down

The Kingston public works department, working round the clock, succeeded by the night of June 23 in cutting down the amount of flow of sewage to a minimum, Edinger reported.

A survey was made over the length of the creek that was affected by the pollution, Edinger said, by Morris Nussbaum of the Kingston City Laboratory, and Boyd Miller.

Pollution Reduced

The findings of the survey were that there had been a drastic reduction in the pollution, and at the mouth of the Sawkill only one per cent of the total pollution was being recovered.

From that point downstream, conditions were found to be normal.

A total stoppage for the entire length of the Esopus from Kingston downstream, was not found, however, and the ban on swimming was continued for that portion from Kingston to the Sawkill Creek entry.

May Open Creek Later

Recommendations made toward correcting the remaining condition which affects the stream over that comparatively short distance were referred to the city engineer by the board of public works, and if that condition is corrected the entire creek may be opened in time for the resort season.

The nine mile strip opened Friday afternoon covers the most populated portion, and includes a number of private camps as well as several resorts and the Saugerties Bathing Beach.

Nature Helps

The reason the downstream portion of the creek could be considered safe for bathing even while a small portion upstream was polluted was explained by Edinger today, who pointed out that the streams "recover" due to natural purification.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteers are needed and anyone desiring to serve is asked to attend the class. School teachers and principals are urged to volunteer during the vacation months, and also high school pupils. Teenagers must have letters of permission from their parents. They will serve with adults.

Mrs. Logan said there is also a "desperate need" for men to serve from 2 to 4 and 4 to 6 a. m. About 20 men are needed.

Resurfacing 209 To Start in July

Work is slated to start next month on the widening and resurfacing of 3.11 miles of Route 209 from Ellenville's north village line northeastward to a point just beyond Wawarsing.

County Asphalt Inc., of Tarrytown was the only bidder at $149,421.50. The state estimate was $154,000.

The 20-foot road will be widened by four feet and resurfaced with asphalt concrete. Work will be under direction of J. S. Bixby, district engineer at Poughkeepsie. Traffic will be maintained during construction.

Tag Day Is Set For Volunteers

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today issued a proclamation designating June 26 and 27 as Tag Days for the Volunteers of America.

This organization, he said, "does a great amount of charitable work and is always ready to help those in need, and is worthy of the people's fullest support."

"The Volunteers of America depends upon the public for funds for their maintenance, he said, and he requested "each and every person to donate what he can in order that this much needed organization in our city can continue its fine work."

Show Time Slated By LincolnDancers

Show Time, a variety presentation offering all the attractions of old-time vaudeville and present day television programs, will feature pupils of the Lincoln Park Dancing School on Monday at 8 p. m. in White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue.

Announcement of the show was made today by Mary Oulton Leininger, director of the school, who said that the program will be staged in two parts, offering tap and all types of dances, baton twirling, songs and comedy.

Mrs. Leininger, a recognized performer in the professional field since she started in the troupe organized by her father, Frank Oulton, has been planning Show Time for more than a month with emphasis on variety and appropriate costumes.

Prior to World War 2, Mary Oulton and her brother, Buddy, were a popular dance team in entertainment spots along the Hudson valley, and prior to that as juveniles in their father's troupe of performers.

Investigation by the sheriff's office of a reported hit-run accident on Route 28A on Wednesday led to the arrest Thursday night of Warren Every, 17, of R.D. 4, Kingston, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Alton Boice of the town of Hurley, Every was paroled in the custody of his mother for a hearing 3 p. m. Saturday before Peace Justice Bernard Smith of the town of Kingston.

Arrest was on complaint of James E. O'Hara of Mt. Marion, who told authorities the left rear door, fender and bumper of his automobile were damaged. No personal injuries were reported. Investigation was by County Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Deputy Sheriff Chester A. Wolven.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clarence Rappleyea of the town of Ulster, Dunn waived examination and was ordered held at the Ulster county jail for action of the grand jury.

Sgt. Reilly said the charge, a felony accused Dunn of acts allegedly committed with minor children in the town of Rosendale over a period of time.

Reynolds Also Held

Reynolds also was held in $10,000 bail.

Police identified Reynolds as the real owner of the Isabella street, apartment house which burned and Valcourt as the man who is listed as the owner.

Capt. Wilson quoted Valcourt as saying Reynolds told him recently that he had increased the insurance from $15,000 to $30,000.

Wilson said Valcourt told police: "I emptied a barrel of papers near a stairway, lit a match and then ran out, but I stopped and rang a few doorbells to wake the occupants."

Robertson Has

North Korean prisoners remaining in UN camps since the breakout last week of 27,000 others, Rhee said:

"I have undertaken with the UNC to have our guards cooperate with the Americans—to prevent further outbreaks."

The UN prisoner of war command has already announced that U. S. guards have replaced the ROK guards at all POW camps on the mainland.

Breakout Attempted

Even as Rhee's statement was issued, another breakout attempt was broken up Friday by American guards who shot and killed two anti-Red North Koreans and wounded another at a camp near Pusan.

Rhee said he did not wish to comment at this time on a question of whether the U. S. had notified him it would withdraw military and economic aid if he still refused to go along with a truce.

Asked whether he thought South Korea could fight on alone if U. S. aid were stopped, Rhee said:

"If there is no other way to cease fire than to sign the truce as it is, then I believe it is best for the U. S. to let the Koreans try to save themselves. When the truce is signed, the U. S. can not participate in the fight, but it can allow the Koreans to continue the fighting alone. The Koreans believe they can win the war if they are given the weapons and ammunition and if not, the Koreans want to try anyway."

Rhee Gives Opinion

Asked whether he thought the allies would sign a separate truce with the Communists without South Korea, Rhee replied:

"I do not think the U. S. will, nor do we ask the U. S. to hold the signing of the truce either on the present terms or with some alteration because of Korea's refusal to accept the truce."

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior allied armistice delegate, flew to Tokyo for conferences with Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander.

In Washington, President Eisenhower was reported to have told Senate leaders he is willing to send any man in the American government to confer with Rhee. He reportedly said such a meeting should be held away from the electric atmosphere of South Korea, possibly in Japan or Okinawa.

Eisenhower gave no indication he would go to Korea.

Health Report Cites Need Of Psychologists in Schools

A school health department report submitted to members of the Board of Education noted that "There seems to be an increasingly greater proportion of worried, nervous students in junior and senior high schools," and it said "Considerable comment is made regarding need for full-time psychologists."

There are "more and more nail biters, more demands for excuses from school and classes for psychosomatic symptoms not substantiated by physical findings," the report said.

While this situation "is conditioned mostly by many factors outside of schools, we can probably provide some badly needed therapy, through better understanding of students' aims and abilities."

Need Is Cited

The report signed by Dr. Samuel S. Nussbaum, school medical director, said "There is such need" for full-time psychologists; but added "I believe it would be more profitable to offer a course of lectures to be arranged through the State Education Department, Division of Adult Education, and/or Mental Health Division."

Attendance would be compulsory for all under the proposal and "due credit to be given for such post graduate study; and the fields to be covered to include normal and abnormal psychology, normal child development, and the teacher's place in recognition and correction of early deviations. Credit granted for a course of this nature could be considered as part fulfillment under provisions established for teachers' certification and merit."

The report said 99.3 per cent or 6,349 of the city's 6,383 pupils had been examined under the health program and of these 1,235 were "entirely negative," 2,160 shower minor non-reportable defects under observation and 2,954 showed reportable defects.

Facilities Are Lacking

The report on inspections said School No. 6 with 600 enrolled "lacks adequate hand washing facilities, and "milk in most grade schools cannot be properly kept between delivery and use, due to lack of sufficient refrigeration."

The report suggested that milk be delivered and packed in ice or dry ice or a large freezer be provided for each school.

Inspections were made "with particular reference to washrooms, lunchrooms, and food handling. "All schools are well kept, the report said. Facilities are clean, but inadequate.

The lunchrooms are bright, the report said, the food looks appetizing and in the grades the menus are well balanced. In the high school and MJM school the student has free choice.

Legislature Pushes

ures by an overwhelming vote. The Democratic minority voted against the change of venue bill, as did a few Republicans. The Democrats also opposed the bill relating to court motions.

By a party vote, both houses approved amendments to the New York City Transit Authority Law.

One change limits to 5 million dollars a year the amount the authority may spend on capital projects without board of estimate approval. The other confers on the authority certain powers formerly vested in the Board of Transportation.

Water Department

able the present facilities to operate at normal capacity. The water department's first duty is to insure water to its consumers for fire protection and domestic purposes, and it believes that the above plan will, with observance by every consumer, enable some lawn and garden sprinkling to be done. However in the event that excessive use of such as was experienced during the past heat wave, again occurs, it may become necessary to curtail all sprinkling.

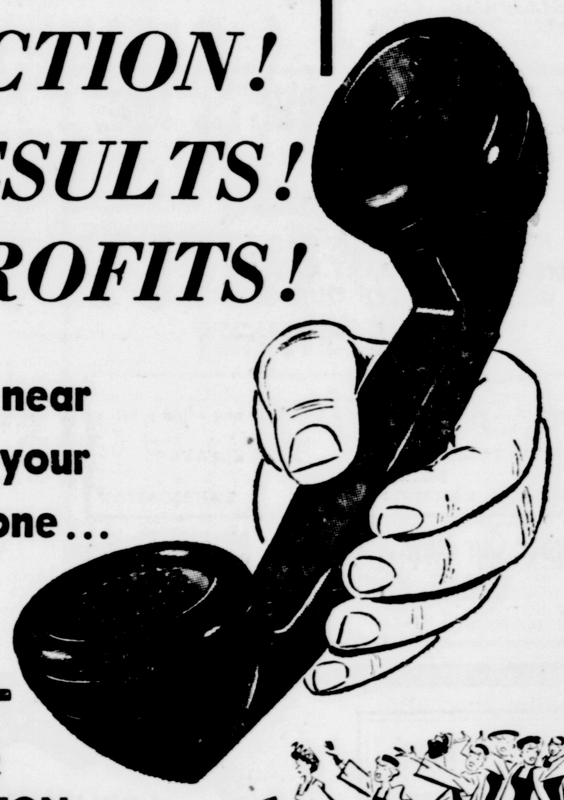

"During the past hot period the city was using nearly half a million gallons of water a day more than can safely be run through the main conduits. The city's reservoirs are full and there is enough water for everyone with judicious use and observance of the regulations by the consumers."

More Room . . .

brary in an upstairs corridor, he said, and by September, 1954 the school "will not have a single room left."

It is expected that School No. 5 will get the children from Colonial Gardens, the city's housing project in the Flatbush avenue area.

Next fall, Laidlaw said, the situation is going to be "very tight, and it isn't going to be long before the school buildings are filled up."

REMINDER OF THE PAST—This huge rocking horse is located on a golf course in Winchendon, Mass., as a reminder of the past when the town was one of the chief toy-making centers of the country. BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 25—Although it is too early in the season for me to make a comprehensive forecast of the 1953 crop prospects, there are a few highlights that may be of interest. But, first, I can say that as of June 1 the outlook for most of the country was fairly good.

Wheat crops of a billion bushels or more have been commonplace in this country during recent years. The 1953 crop should be no exception to the rule, notwithstanding the very poor outlook in certain dry sections. Things would look brighter for the wheat farmer if the total crop were smaller, since storage space at the peak of the harvesting season will be at a premium. This will make it difficult, if not impossible, for some farmers to avail themselves of the Government loan. Supplies of old-crop wheat are also heavy. This all adds up to burdensome total supplies for the 1953-1954 season, and may well presage some form of Government control on 1954 production.

I expect another relatively small rye crop this year, perhaps moderately larger than the 1952 outturn of 15,910,000 bushels, but well below the ten-year average of 25,837,000 bushels. However, it should suffice, since imports from Canada probably will take up any slack. Despite floods and other setbacks in the southern rice area, another big crop is on the way, and will be needed to meet a good prospective domestic and export demand.

Corn and Soybean Crops

Last spring, farmers indicated that they intended to plant almost as much acreage to corn this year as in 1952, when the final outturn amounted to 3,307,000,000 bushels—the second largest corn crop on record. Although excessive rainfall and cool weather delayed plantings in a number of important areas, the setback has been largely made up. Given favorable growing weather and no widespread frost damage later on, we should have another big corn crop this year. This should be good news to hog raisers, since it should help to maintain a profitable corn-hog ratio.

In the case of soybeans, I have very little as yet on which to base a reliable forecast. However, private reports reaching me indicate that planted acreage this year did not differ very much from that in 1952, and that the crop is developing well. Last year's production amounted to 291,682,000 bushels—the second largest on record. Both soybeans and corn are marketed more or less heavily in the fall. For lack of storage place at that time, I expect downward pressure on prices of corn and soybeans.

Cotton Prospects

At this early stage, I would not hazard a forecast as to the probable size of the 1953 U. S. cotton crop. Plantings were badly delayed in some sections by inclement weather, but my guess is that cotton farmers finally got in a fairly large acreage, nevertheless. The price support program alone offered them a good inducement to plant rather generously. I should not be at all surprised if this year's crop turned out to be well above average, barring severe weevil or other damage. Following a big carryover, another large crop would necessitate more price support.

Flaxseed is another oilseed crop. The odds are that a fairly large crop is in the offing, since farmers last spring expected to increase acreage 20 per cent. I am inclined to doubt, however, that the final outturn will come up to the ten-year average of 38,056,000 bushels. Large carryover stocks are in government hands, chiefly in the form of linseed oil.

What About Future Prices?

Prices of farm products have been declining for more than two years. In fact, they are down 12.8 per cent from January 1951, but still are 3.6 per cent above June 1950—the month in which the Korean war began. This drop occurred despite government price props. Continued large production, dwindling exports, and mounting surpluses are a combination hard to beat. Thus again is the old law of supply and demand confirmed. Farm prices, in this summer and fall, but I don't general, will be under pressure this summer and fall, but I don't expect them to collapse. Farmers should still be able to buy all that they need, although perhaps less than they want, which may prove salutary in the long run.

Smallest Farms

Japan is a land of small rice and silk farms and is said to have the smallest of any nation in the world. The average holding is less than three acres.

Memorial Lamp

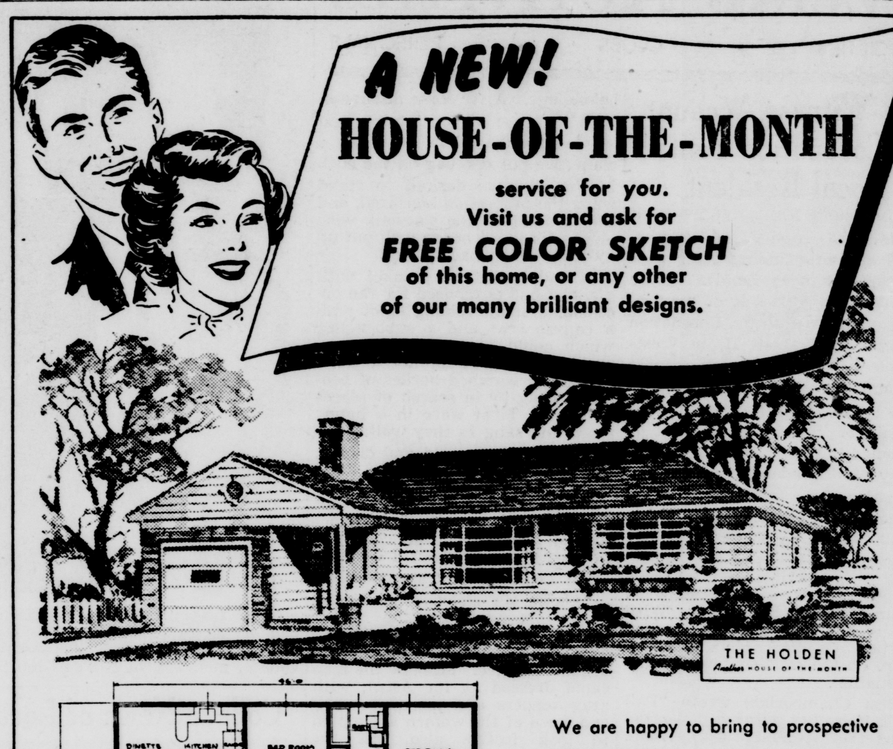

A lamp in the old palace at Travancore, India, has never been extinguished although it first was lit more than 1,200 years ago. It burns in memory of a ruler who is said to have ascended to heaven while resting on a stone couch.

Prices of farm products have been declining for more than two years. In fact, they are down 12.8 per cent from January 1951, but still are 3.6 per cent above June 1950—the month in which the Korean war began. This drop occurred despite government price props. Continued large production, dwindling exports, and mounting surpluses are a combination hard to beat. Thus again is the old law of supply and demand confirmed. Farm prices, in this summer and fall, but I don't general, will be under pressure this summer and fall, but I don't expect them to collapse. Farmers should still be able to buy all that they need, although perhaps less than they want, which may prove salutary in the long run.

Eye-Witness Account Of Coronation Sent To Local Resident

Miss Jennie Riseley of 199 Wall street, has received a lengthy, vivid and entertaining description of happenings in London before and during the passing of the procession en route to the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, in Westminster Abbey. The eye-witness account was written by Miss Riseley's niece, Miss Barbara Chamberlain of Tenafly, N. J., who is attached to the United States Embassy in London. She is the daughter of the former Miss Helen Riseley of this city.

Takes Position Night Previous

Before her transfer to London, Miss Chamberlain had served in government secretaryships in South Africa and Greece. With two of her colleagues, she took a position on Pall Mall about 8 p. m. on the evening prior to the coronation.

Miss Chamberlain wrote "Pall Mall is rather narrow. We decided that it was probably more empty at this period than Picadilly, and less muddy than Hyde Park, so we found a place next to a family group, and parked our belongings. After some discussion with the man of the family, who seemed to know how to stake a claim, we put one bag on the curb in the spot we desired to stand when the procession appeared, and then we sat on the sidewalk with our backs to a wooden wall put up by the club in back of us.

"I had brought a blanket with me, and had purchased for the occasion, a small folding stool with a canvas seat and a rubber bag which could be blown up into a cushion. We sat for about three hours and watched hordes of people passing by in search of places to stand. Most were in a happy mood and sang as they walked.

In spite of the cold and drizzle, Miss Chamberlain tried to doze, but was not too successful. People were moving down the street all through the night in an effort to find places. The police began to line the route about 6 a. m.

Men Look Better Than Women

"About six o'clock," continued Miss Chamberlain, "the swells who had purchased seats in the club stands along the street, began to arrive. Most of the men came dressed as for Ascot, with gray toppers and morning coats, and some of the women attempted to look festive also, but the weather was against them. Anyhow it always seems as though the men here look better in their clothes than do the women, as the latter invariably wear white shoes with dark dresses, or buy the wrong furs for their shapes, or generally overdress in a dowdy fashion."

Horses, Fed Up

Describing the carriages bearing peers and pages, the author said the one that contained the Earl of Strewsbury, his Countess, and his page, was the most interesting. "The last was the most interesting, as its horses got fed up with the noise and stopped dead just down the street. Several spectators tried to help the footman pull the horses and push the wheels and eventually it got going again."

The young women were entertained by the military procedure involved in having soldiers remove and don rain coats, which was necessary four times during the procession.

Police Never Officious

"The crowd was always orderly and it welcomed the little byplays enacted before it as a great help to whiling away the time. The police were always pleasant and never officious."

Carriages bearing the colonial rulers, Dominion Prime Ministers, and minor royalty, with an outline of the occupants was included in the account written.

And Then, The Sovereign

"The next attraction was the Irish State Coach bearing Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, and Princess Margaret. There was much oh-ing and ah-ing at this sight. The Queen Mother was looking gracious and gave her well-known version of the Royal wave. Following them came the Sovereign's Escort of Household Cavalry and then the Coronation Coach. It was larger than I had expected and the Queen looked quite small inside it. She was on our side and was smiling. Her face was quite pink, no doubt due to the heavy make-up she had to wear for the television cameras. Her hair was tightly curled under the Crown and on the whole, she seemed better looking than her photographs usually show her. I studied her so intently that I missed seeing the Duke of Edinburgh."

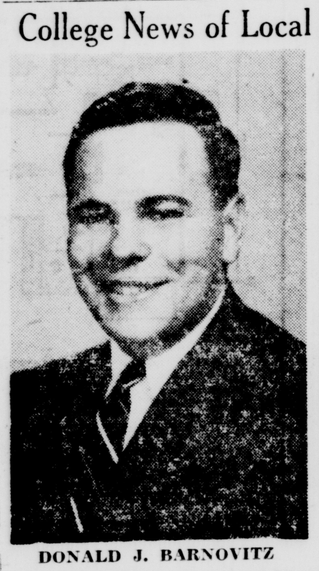

Miss Chamberlain and her companions soon started for home. "Getting there was much worse than we had anticipated," she said as she told of the difficulties encountered.

THE NEW HOUSE IN THE COUNTRY

How to be hospitable when one's purse is very small is the problem of this reader who explains: "We recently moved from the city to the country, and since doing so have had friends as well as acquaintances, who were out for a Sunday drive, drop in to see us. This happens practically every week end and very often our visitors are people we seldom saw when we lived in the city. We love to see people, but because we are attempting to buy our house and are budgeting every penny, we simply cannot afford to have people stay for meals, except occasionally. On the other hand, as the trip is a rather long one, we just can't let them leave without offering them some food. How can this situation be handled tactfully?"

The easiest food to provide, as well as at the least cost, would be tea and sandwiches. These last could be made with the simplest of fillings.

Be Prompt for Your Date

Dear Mrs. Post: When I have a definite date with a young man to go somewhere, and he arrives early and sits down and talks with the family, is it up to him or me, to suggest after awhile that we'd better go or be late?

Answer: This is not a fixed rule because he could suggest leaving, but it is usually up to the girl to do it. The real point to make is that the girl be ready to leave and in this case do so at once. The time taken before they leave is because the girl keeps him waiting and he then gets into a conversation with her family

Satin in Summer?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married this coming August and had planned on wearing a white satin dress. Several of my friends have told me that satin is completely out of season during July and August. Will you please tell me if they are right? If so, what materials would be proper during the summer months?

Answer: A heavy slipper satin would be very hot during the summer months but a soft lightweight satin would be comfortable as well as proper.

One reader asks, "What are the essentials for my hope chest?" Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but a list of hope chest essentials are included in her leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau." Wallkill, June 26—The Rev. John Kenney of the Church of the Most Precious Blood of Walden officiated at the double ring ceremony Saturday, June 13, at St. Benedict's Church, Wallkill, in which Marie Antoinette Duch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duch of Forest road, Wallkill, became the bride of Edward Marion Dmytryszyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dmytryszyn of Yonkers. The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of French Imported Chantilly lace over nylon net and satin with a bouffant skirt and a strapless bodice of bridal satin covered by a jacket of French imported Chantilly lace with a peter pan collar. The headpiece was a tiara of seed pearls with a fingertip illusion veil and she carried a satin quilted prayer book with a white orchid.

Mrs. John Gazek of Winona avenue, was matron of honor for her sister. Miss Constance Duch and Miss Teresa Duch were bridesmaids, and Joan Gnida and Suzanne Cooper were junior bridesmaids. The bridesmaids wore similar gowns in orchid and the junior bridesmaids wore maize gowns with bouffant skirts, net covered taffeta bodices and off-the-shoulder bertha collars. All of the gowns in the bridal party were designed and made by the bride's sister, Mrs. John Gazek. Each attendant carried a mixed bouquet and wore matching flower headpieces.

James Cooper of Yonkers was best man. Ushers were John Duch, Jr., of Wallkill, and Thaddeus Dmytryszyn of Beverly, N. J.

Programs Are Assailed

Chicago, June 26 (AP)—The journal of the American Medical Association threw an editorial haymaker today at radio and television programs that feature stethoscopes, white coats and medical claims in advertising. The journal said it has received many complaining letters from physicians and others who "assert this is a cheap attempt to mislead the audiences into believing that the claims have been proven medically."

Victory Is First For VFW Tossers

Joe Beaver, the former Esopus Little League strikeout sensation, got a rude reception in his FYL debut last week, But, yesterday, the VFW flinger had all his stuff and responded with a beautifully pitched 11 to 1 triumph over the Police for the Vets' first win in three starts.

The boxscore doesn't list a strikeout for Beaver but he permitted only five hits and lost a shutout via an unearned run in the fourth frame.

VFW scored a quick kayo over starter Lorenzo Giannuzzi and raked Glenn Newell, too, with nine runs in the first two innings. Newell steadied and was superb in the last five rounds.

Beaver led 10-0 when the Police crashed through with a fun to avoid the shutout. And it took two errors, a wild pitch and a single to turn the trick.

Seymour Semilof got a life on Bob Dawkins' error, moved to second on a wild pitch. Bob Raible singled him to third and he scored on Dawkins' second miscue of the inning.

Pino on Rampage

Joe Pino's homer and three singles sparked the 15-hit VFW attack. Joe Hoffman pounded a double and two singles and Ronnie Ashdown cracked three solo slams. John Tomaseskie stroked two singles.

The lone Police swinger to fathom Beaver's stuff was Bob Raible, the starting catcher, who was "3 for 3" all singles.

The VFW was off and winging early in the first inning when Bob Dawkins led off with a single and Joe Pino blasted a line drive to left field and easily beat the relay home for his second homer of the season.

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Three items that appeared almost simultaneously a few days ago on three area sports pages—Newburgh, Port Jervis and Kingston—reflected an alarming slump in attendance at small fry baseball games.

Port Jervis related an old and encouraging tale of Little League baseball making its debut in an excited community. More than 500 persons turned out. The mayor threw the first ball. The local press applied all the time honored cliches in describing this "new youth interest" in the community.

It proclaimed Little League as a fine asset to the community. "No one person can take credit for the organization of the Little League," the article stated, "for it was the combined efforts of many individuals plus the support of many others through donations of money and material that made the league possible."

Yes, that does have a familiar ring.

But let's see what's happening in Kingston and Newburgh. "Bo" Gill reports that LL attendance in the Newburgh area has dropped to a point where the players outnumber the fans. He related that in a trip to New Windsor he saw only three adult fans in the crowd. There were about 10 adults at two other parks.

One of the local Little Leagues sent out an appeal a few days back urging better attendance at the games, since the collections which are strictly for prizes and trophies were dwindling at an alarming rate.

The strange tate of LL merely follows the national trend of sports attendance. It may be only temporary. After America nearly knocked itself out in the Roarin' Twenties, it settled down following the Wall Street crash. Maybe America is settling down again to a more family way. And that's why it's puzzling to see the attendance slump at LL parks.

Ordinarily you would expect leagues like Little League and the FYL to be assured of a ready made audience nearly every time out . . . parents, friends, school chums. Unfortunately, it doesn't work out that way. In some families both parents work. That means mother and father can't possibly have dinner and be at the ball park by 6 p. m. One mother pointed out that she had to have supper at 5 o'clock every day, hurry her son to the park, or "eat at 9:30" each night."

There are some parents, regrettully, who just can't find time to be in the ball park when junior struts his stuff. It is too bad that a surprising percentage of parents are unable to add their support from the bleachers. But a most important thing is happening . . . Junior is getting a chance to play baseball in a supervised form of competition.

Little Leagues have been of great assistance for Recreation Departments the country over. Never before have these departments had so much free assistance in the supervision of their athletic programs for the small fry.

Some progressive cities operate Little League through the recreation departments. But some departments, by reason of their makeup, could not promote Little League baseball. Little League is not a method of producing semi-pro or professional ball players. It is a plan whereby baseball is used to teach the youth of America many other more important things.

Organizations have backed Little League with the intent to work for the future of the American youth. The parents should make an effort to see junior play at least once a week—even if they only arrive in time for the fourth inning "stretch." This would encourage the civic-minded organizations that are spending much time and money for the children of the community.

The one redeeming feature about Little League is that it will continue to operate with or without adult attendance. It was conceived as a self-sufficient organization a few years ago by Carl Stotz of Williamsport, Pa., who realized long ago that LL would have to pay its own way. It has resisted all efforts to commercialize the project and remains one of the truly simon pure sports movements in the nation. As such it deserves far greater adult recognition than it is getting.

Dodgers Defeat Red Sox 9-6; Armstrong Homers

First Half Champs Handed First Loss

The Dodgers seldom lose when their bellwether—Hobart Armstrong—clouts a homer.

Hobart found the range for one yesterday and the 1952 champions responded with a 9-6 triumph over the first half kingpin Red Sox in the Little American League.

The Dodgers upended Charlie Boice the hard way, rallying for six runs in the fifth after the Sox had tallied four in their half for a 7-3 lead. George Uhl relieved starter George Kotrady during the Red Sox rally and then nailed down the win with a scorless seventh.

Uhl also had two of the six hits off Boice, who walked seven and fanned eight. Jim Cullum's three singles sparked the 9-hit Red Sox attack. Boice had a double and single and Frank Sammons cracked two solo slams.

Doubles were credited to Tom Cragan, Dick Marcus, Jim Dickson and Garry Barnes. Kotrady fanned five men.

Rosendale Nine Beats Hurley, 16-7 To Continue Skein

Rosendale Merchants stayed in the winning with a 16-7 pasting of Hurley in a softball contest Wednesday at Sportsman's Park.

Scoring in five of their six turns at bat, the Merchants moved ahead 8-5 in the second and were never headed. B. Temple pitched 10-hit ball and was extremely effective after yielding five tallies in the second.

Merchants clubbed Wirth and Schenck for 17 safeties, including a homer, two doubles and a single for Avery, who went "4 for 4." Temple aided his own cause with a triple and homer. Oehrlein and Crookston each rapped two hits. Ritter and S. Temple also hit for the circuit.

Esopus Indians Setback Dodgers

The Indians of the Esopus League variety turned in their third win in seven starts by whipping the Dodgers in extra innings, 8-6, yesterday at Ross Field.

Both teams scored twice in the sixth to end the regulation contest a 6-6 tie. The Indians have a carryover streak of three straight.

Darrel Myers, the winning pitcher, walked four men and fanned 9 and pounded a double. The Indians collected seven hits off two Dodger hurlers, including a double and two singles by Bob Short, who doubled as pitcher and catcher.

Dodgers made 10 hits with Bob Robinson stroking two singles. Tony Colon cracked a two bagger for the loser. Charlie Turner, who escaped the loss, yielded two walks and fanned 9 for the Dodgers. Vince Meleski's spectacular catch in deep left robbed Turner of a possible triple.

Batting—Larry Doby, Cleveland Indians, hit two home runs, a double and a single, driving in five runs, in the Indians 15-4 victory over Boston.

Pitching — Billy Pierce and Harry Dorish, Chicago White Sox, gave up five hits in beating New York, 4-2. Pierce pitched the first eight innings played first base while Dorish came in to pitch to two right handed batters at the start of the ninth, then returned to finish the game.

First Half Champs Keep on Rolling

It's getting to be a good trick when National Little League teams are able to keep the powerful Indians from scoring in any inning, let alone beat them.

The first half champions scored in four of five frames against the Pirates yesterday for an easy 15-6 decision and their second straight in the second half.

While Joe Avnet and Jack Fischer combined for five-hit pitching, the Tribe parlayed seven hits and eight walks plus a few errors into 15 runs. They scored five runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

Jack Fischer's double was the only extra base blow of the game and Joe Avnet with two singles was the only player to hit safely more than once.

Giardello 7-5 Over Durando

New York, June 26 (AP)—Ernie Durando, probably the hardest puncher in the middleweight division, meets Joey Giardello, an up and coming Philadelphia youngster, tonight at Madison Square Garden in the final show of the regular Friday night season.

The 10-round match, scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST) will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC). Giardello, 22, is a 7 to 5 favorite.

The winner of this bout may be a 1954 title challenger for the winner of the Randy Turpin-Bobo Olson bout that probably will be held Aug. 27 in New York. Tonight's fight is a rematch of a Scranton, Pa., fight of April 30, 1951, won by Giardello in 10 rounds.

Hinkley Hurls 7-Hitter for 3rd Jones Win

Carlino Pounds Another Homer

Jones Dairy looked like the championship club of yesteryear in the City League yesterday.

The Dairymen got a well-pitched seven hitter from Bruce "Red" Hinkley and rolled over the Dobler crew, 10 to 3, for their third win in seven starts.

Hinkley scattered the Dobler hits effectively and they were also to cluster single runs in only the first, third and seventh innings. His only anxious moment came in the very first stanza, when George Glaser led off with a line drive triple to left field and Bill Tierney followed with a single to right.

Tom Carlino's tremendous two-run homer to right center in the second featured Jones Dairy's eight hits off the combined slants of George "No Hit" Magley and "Bullet" Bill Tierney.

Six Run Outburst

It was a respectable 3-2 ball game in Jones Dairy's favor when the Milkmen cracked the game wide open with a six-run rally in the fourth, their biggest scoring rally of the season.

Johnny Schatzel, R. Whitaker accounted for two Dairy safeties each. W. McClure collected two for the Doblers.

Lee Barringer tripled for the losers.

"No one person can take credit for the organization of the Little League," the article stated, "for it was the combined efforts of many individuals plus the support of many others through donations of money and material that made the league possible."

Yes, that does have a familiar ring.

But let's see what's happening in Kingston and Newburgh. "Bo" Gill reports that LL attendance in the Newburgh area has dropped to a point where the players outnumber the fans. He related that in a trip to New Windsor he saw only three adult fans in the crowd. There were about 10 adults at two other parks.

One of the local Little Leagues sent out an appeal a few days back urging better attendance at the games, since the collections which are strictly for prizes and trophies were dwindling at an alarming rate.

The strange tale of LL merely follows the national trend of sports attendance. It may be only temporary. After America nearly knocked itself out in the Roarin' Twenties, it settled down following the Wall Street crash. Maybe America is settling down again to a more family way. And that's why it's puzzling to see the attendance slump at LL parks.

Ordinarily you would expect leagues like Little League and the FYL to be assured of a ready made audience nearly every time out . . . parents, friends, school chums. Unfortunately, it doesn't work out that way. In some families both parents work. That means mother and father can't possibly have dinner and be at the ball park by 6 p. m. One mother pointed out that she had to have supper at 5 o'clock every day, hurry her son to the park, or "eat at 9:30" each night."

There are some parents, regrettully, who just can't find time to be in the ball park when junior struts his stuff. It is too bad that a surprising percentage of parents are unable to add their support from the bleachers. But a most important thing is happening . . . Junior is getting a chance to play baseball in a supervised form of competition.

Little Leagues have been of great assistance for Recreation Departments the country over. Never before have these departments had so much free assistance in the supervision of their athletic programs for the small fry.

Some progressive cities operate Little League through the recreation departments. But some departments, by reason of their makeup, could not promote Little League baseball. Little League is not a method of producing semi-pro or professional ball players. It is a plan whereby baseball is used to teach the youth of America many other more important things.

Organizations have backed Little League with the intent to work for the future of the American youth. The parents should make an effort to see junior play at least once a week—even if they only arrive in time for the fourth inning "stretch." This would encourage the civic-minded organizations that are spending much time and money for the children of the community.

The one redeeming feature about Little League is that it will continue to operate with or without adult attendance. It was conceived as a self-sufficient organization a few years ago by Carl Stotz of Williamsport, Pa., who realized long ago that LL would have to pay its own way. It has resisted all efforts to commercialize the project and remains one of the truly simon pure sports movements in the nation. As such it deserves far greater adult recognition than it is getting.

Dodgers Defeat Red Sox 9-6; Armstrong Homers

First Half Champs Handed First Loss

The Dodgers seldom lose when their bellwether—Hobart Armstrong—clouts a homer.

Hobart found the range for one yesterday and the 1952 champions responded with a 9-6 triumph over the first half kingpin Red Sox in the Little American League.

The Dodgers upended Charlie Boice the hard way, rallying for six runs in the fifth after the Sox had tallied four in their half for a 7-3 lead. George Uhl relieved starter George Kotrady during the Red Sox rally and then nailed down the win with a scorless seventh.

Uhl also had two of the six hits off Boice, who walked seven and fanned eight. Jim Cullum's three singles sparked the 9-hit Red Sox attack. Boice had a double and single and Frank Sammons cracked two solo slams.

Doubles were credited to Tom Cragan, Dick Marcus, Jim Dickson and Garry Barnes. Kotrady fanned five men.

Rosendale Nine Beats Hurley, 16-7 To Continue Skein

Rosendale Merchants stayed in the winning with a 16-7 pasting of Hurley in a softball contest Wednesday at Sportsman's Park.

Scoring in five of their six turns at bat, the Merchants moved ahead 8-5 in the second and were never headed. B. Temple pitched 10-hit ball and was extremely effective after yielding five tallies in the second.

Merchants clubbed Wirth and Schenck for 17 safeties, including a homer, two doubles and a single for Avery, who went "4 for 4." Temple aided his own cause with a triple and homer. Oehrlein and Crookston each rapped two hits. Ritter and S. Temple also hit for the circuit.

Esopus Indians Setback Dodgers

The Indians of the Esopus League variety turned in their third win in seven starts by whipping the Dodgers in extra innings, 8-6, yesterday at Ross Field.

Both teams scored twice in the sixth to end the regulation contest a 6-6 tie. The Indians have a carryover streak of three straight.

Darrel Myers, the winning pitcher, walked four men and fanned 9 and pounded a double. The Indians collected seven hits off two Dodger hurlers, including a double and two singles by Bob Short, who doubled as pitcher and catcher.

Dodgers made 10 hits with Bob Robinson stroking two singles. Tony Colon cracked a two bagger for the loser. Charlie Turner, who escaped the loss, yielded two walks and fanned 9 for the Dodgers. Vince Meleski's spectacular catch in deep left robbed Turner of a possible triple.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Larry Doby, Cleveland Indians, hit two home runs, a double and a single, driving in five runs, in the Indians 15-4 victory over Boston.

Pitching — Billy Pierce and Harry Dorish, Chicago White Sox, gave up five hits in beating New York, 4-2. Pierce pitched the first eight innings played first base while Dorish came in to pitch to two right handed batters at the start of the ninth, then returned to finish the game.

First Half Champs Keep on Rolling

It's getting to be a good trick when National Little League teams are able to keep the powerful Indians from scoring in any inning, let alone beat them.

The first half champions scored in four of five frames against the Pirates yesterday for an easy 15-6 decision and their second straight in the second half.

While Joe Avnet and Jack Fischer combined for five-hit pitching, the Tribe parlayed seven hits and eight walks plus a few errors into 15 runs. They scored five runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

Jack Fischer's double was the only extra base blow of the game and Joe Avnet with two singles was the only player to hit safely more than once.

Giardello 7-5 Over Durando

New York, June 26 (AP)—Ernie Durando, probably the hardest puncher in the middleweight division, meets Joey Giardello, an up and coming Philadelphia youngster, tonight at Madison Square Garden in the final show of the regular Friday night season.

The 10-round match, scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST) will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC). Giardello, 22, is a 7 to 5 favorite.

The winner of this bout may be a 1954 title challenger for the winner of the Randy Turpin-Bobo Olson bout that probably will be held Aug. 27 in New York. Tonight's fight is a rematch of a Scranton, Pa., fight of April 30, 1951, won by Giardello in 10 rounds.

Hinkley Hurls 7-Hitter for 3rd Jones Win

Carlino Pounds Another Homer

Jones Dairy looked like the championship club of yesteryear in the City League yesterday.

The Dairymen got a well-pitched seven hitter from Bruce "Red" Hinkley and rolled over the Dobler crew, 10 to 3, for their third win in seven starts.

Hinkley scattered the Dobler hits effectively and they were also to cluster single runs in only the first, third and seventh innings. His only anxious moment came in the very first stanza, when George Glaser led off with a line drive triple to left field and Bill Tierney followed with a single to right.

Tom Carlino's tremendous two-run homer to right center in the second featured Jones Dairy's eight hits off the combined slants of George "No Hit" Magley and "Bullet" Bill Tierney.

Six Run Outburst

It was a respectable 3-2 ball game in Jones Dairy's favor when the Milkmen cracked the game wide open with a six-run rally in the fourth, their biggest scoring rally of the season.

Johnny Schatzel, R. Whitaker accounted for two Dairy safeties each. W. McClure collected two for the Doblers.

Lee Barringer tripled for the losers.

Subway Grill has registered nine straight victories without a loss in the City Softball League. And with veteran Joe Amato pitching great ball the pennant prospects of the rest of the loop looks dim at the moment.

The Grills maintained their three-game lead over Esopus Legion Wednesday by coming from behind to defeat the stubborn Cherny nine, 8 to 4.

Amato's Sixth Win

Amato had a shaky start against Cherny's, yielding three runs in the first two innings, but settled down to allow one more tally the rest of the way. Subway's cracked the game open with a five-run off Ed Lowe in the fifth.

Fred Orr powered a homer and single for two of the 11 Subway safeties. Al Hunt doubled and singled and Tom Spada hit a triple and single. Bob Schatzel also had two hits. J. Bush, John McCardle and H. Houghtaling each had two safeties for Cherny's.

Legion Rallies

Esopus trailed Beichert's 3-1 in a duel between Bill Ferguson and Frank Sass when they exploded for three runs in the top of the sixth to insure their seventh win in 10 games.

Sass pitched a miraculous game, yielding 17 hits and yet escaping with only three runs. The Beichert outfielders frustrated several Legion scoring opportunities with a series of circus catches.

Cliff Davis and Ed Van Loan stroked three singles apiece for Esopus. Bob Graves cracked a triple and homer. Herb Ferguson, Bill Ferguson and Harry Sleight crashed the hit column twice. Jack Houghtaling's single and double led the Beichert's. Bruce Munson and Frank Sass were credited with doubles.

Don Koeppen, Jack Houghtaling and Jack Ortlieb fashioned a solid triple threat punch for the Alpine Climbers who outclassed Sickler's Delivery 11-2. The Climbers staked Koeppen to a four-run first inning and that's all he needed.

Koeppen permitted eight hits but scattered them effectively and granted single tallies in the third and fourth. Alpine's finished 2-2-3 against Tex Brown.

Ortlieb was the batting star with a double, two singles and a homer. Houghtaling rapped a double and three singles and Bob Slover hit safely twice. Huyler Van Wagenen's two singles paced the Sicklers.

Freer Stops Lincolns

Ben Freer pitched shutout ball after the first inning to give Hilltop a 10-3 stunner over Lincoln Park Inn. The Hilltoppers went ahead 4-3 in the third and scored five runs in the fourth.

Hilltop raked Ferrell McElrath for 14 hits—all singles—as Bill Glaser, Nick Carl, Ronnie Scheffel and F. Bailey hit two each. Joe Ruzzo had a pair for the Presidents.

Indians Face Slumping Yanks in Renewed Bid

Tribe Confronted With Big Chance

BY BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians get another chance this weekend to make the American League pennant race look like a pennant race. In the National League, where it's been close all the way, the lead may well change hands.

The desperate Indians, trailing by nine games, renew their one-sided rivalry with the league leading, but suddenly slumping, New York Yankees in a three part series opening tonight in New York.

In Milwaukee, the deflated Braves, who like the Yanks have dropped four straight, collide with the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. The Bums trail by only two games.

Experts such as Leo Durocher figure the Braves have been playing over their heads and have real cause to worry. But as yet nobody is proposing seriously that the Yankees, who recently came within a single game of equalling the all-time American League winning streak, are ready to fall apart, especially against their Cleveland cousins.

The White Sox, who had beaten the Yankees in the first inning on Wednesday, waited until the ninth inning yesterday to pull out a 4-2 triumph. Cleveland blasted Boston, 15-4. The St. Louis Browns won their fourth straight, 3-1, over Washington, and Philadelphia finally caught up with Detroit after two setbacks, 5-2.

Braves Lose Again

Milwaukee went 12 innings before bowing, 6-4, to Pittsburgh. Brooklyn swamped Cincinnati, 12-3. Philadelphia squeezed into third place by beating Chicago, 13-2 while the St. Louis Cardinals slipped to fourth in losing to New York, 9-4.

Yogi Berra and Nellie Fox traded two-run homers in the White Sox-Yankee game and then Fox opened the ninth with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored as Minnie Minoso ran his hitting streak to 17 games with a single.

Minoso scampered to third on a hit and run single by Jim Rivera. Rivera kept right on moving and was trapped between first and second. During the rundown Minoso broke for the plate, the Yankees switched the play to him but he made it home when a throw by Gil McDougald hit him in the head.

Doby, Rosen Click

Larry Doby and Al Rosen, who will have to produce if Cleveland expects to do anything against the Yankees, drove in five runs apiece in the rout of the Red Sox. Doby hit two homers, a double and a single. Rosen homered, singled and doubled.

Milwaukee coasted into th ninth inning with a 4-1 lead over Pittsburgh but Johnny Lindell slammed a pinch hit home run with two men on base to force the game into extra innings.

Johnny O'Brien opened the 12th with a walk, moved to third on a single by Danny O'Connell and romped home when Frank Thomas singled, his first hit in 28 times up. Thomas also scored as Dick Cole followed with a double.

Between 1918 and 1948 the Philadelphia Phillies finished in the first division only once. That was in 1932 when they finished fourth.

Indians Face Slumping Yanks in Renewed Bid

Tribe Confronted With Big Chance

BY BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians get another chance this weekend to make the American League pennant race look like a pennant race. In the National League, where it's been close all the way, the lead may well change hands.

The desperate Indians, trailing by nine games, renew their one-sided rivalry with the league leading, but suddenly slumping, New York Yankees in a three part series opening tonight in New York.

In Milwaukee, the deflated Braves, who like the Yanks have dropped four straight, collide with the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. The Bums trail by only two games.

Experts such as Leo Durocher figure the Braves have been playing over their heads and have real cause to worry. But as yet nobody is proposing seriously that the Yankees, who recently came within a single game of equalling the all-time American League winning streak, are ready to fall apart, especially against their Cleveland cousins.

The White Sox, who had beaten the Yankees in the first inning on Wednesday, waited until the ninth inning yesterday to pull out a 4-2 triumph. Cleveland blasted Boston, 15-4. The St. Louis Browns won their fourth straight, 3-1, over Washington, and Philadelphia finally caught up with Detroit after two setbacks, 5-2.

Braves Lose Again

Milwaukee went 12 innings before bowing, 6-4, to Pittsburgh. Brooklyn swamped Cincinnati, 12-3. Philadelphia squeezed into third place by beating Chicago, 13-2 while the St. Louis Cardinals slipped to fourth in losing to New York, 9-4.

Yogi Berra and Nellie Fox traded two-run homers in the White Sox-Yankee game and then Fox opened the ninth with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored as Minnie Minoso ran his hitting streak to 17 games with a single.

Minoso scampered to third on a hit and run single by Jim Rivera. Rivera kept right on moving and was trapped between first and second. During the rundown Minoso broke for the plate, the Yankees switched the play to him but he made it home when a throw by Gil McDougald hit him in the head.

Doby, Rosen Click

Larry Doby and Al Roser, who will have to produce if Cleveland expects to do anything against the Yankees, drove in five runs apiece in the rout of the Red Sox. Doby hit two homers, a double and a single. Rosen homered, singled and doubled.

Milwaukee coasted into th ninth inning with a 4-1 lead over Pittsburgh but Johnny Lindell slammed a pinch hit home run with two men on base to force the game into extra innings.

Johnny O'Brien opened the 12th with a walk, moved to third on a single by Danny O'Connell and romped home when Frank Thomas singled, his first hit in 28 times up. Thomas also scored as Dick Cole followed with a double.

Between 1918 and 1948 the Philadelphia Phillies finished in the first division only once. That was in 1932 when they finished fourth.

SPIN FISHING THE SMALL STREAMS

SMALL STREAM SPIN FISHING DEMANDS THE USE OF LIGHT LURES WITHIN THE 1/8-TO 1/20-OUNCE RANGE. A 3-TO 4-LB. TEST LINE WITH A 2- TO 3-OZ. ROD OF 5-TO 6½-FT. LURES MUST SPIN OR WOBBLE EASILY AND RESIST CURRENT ON A TAUT LINE TO AVOID SINKING QUICKLY. IT TAKES A SOFT-ACTION ROD TO BEND IN CASTING THESE LIGHTEST SPINNING LURES.

ALWAYS CAST DOWNSTREAM INTO THE CURRENT OR FASTER TAIL-WATERS OF SLOW POOLS. LAY FINGER ON SPOOL TO STOP CAST. RAISE ROD TIP AND BEGIN REELING TO ELIMINATE SLACK AND SINKING. THEN LOWER TIP, RETRIEVING UPSTREAM THROUGH DESIRED AREA.

Brown Is Elected By Legionnaires As Barth Retires

At the county convention of the American Legion this week, the Rev. Clarence E. Brown of this city, a 35-year member of the veterans' organization, was elected and installed as county commander.

Delegates and members from 11 Legion posts in the county attended the session in the hall of Kingston Post, 150, on West O'Reilly street, and ladies of the county American Legion Auxiliary held a business session of their organization.

Praises Barth

In his remarks Samuels, the No. 1 candidate for commander of the Department of New York, American Legion, lauded Chester Barth, retiring head of the county Legion for his outstanding leadership.

Barth said his accomplishments could be credited to efficient and cooperative committes as he spoke in appreciation of a past commander's pin presented by his comrades in Town of Esopus Post, Port Ewen.

Samuels, aspirant to the state commander's post, looks for continued progress of the Ulster County American Legion under the Rev. Mr. Brown's direction, because he has served as commander of two Legion posts in the upstate area, and has an outstanding record as one of Kingston post's commanders.

Thanks Ulster Legion

Samuels thanked Ulster county Legionnaires for endorsing his nomination for department commander at the state convention to be held in Rochester on July 17-18-19.

County officers installed with Commander Brown were Donald Duignan, Marlborough, vice commander; Ray Coats, New Paltz, treasurer; Thomas Verclaversak, Saugerties, chaplain; Donald G. Moore, Kingston, service officer; Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, adjutant.

Refreshments were served by the American Legion County Auxiliary.

Brown Is Elected By Legionnaires As Barth Retires

At the county convention of the American Legion this week, the Rev. Clarance E. Brown of this city, a 35-year member of the veterans' organization, was elected and installed as county commander.

Attorney Paul Samuels of Poughkeepsie, a past commander of Dutchess county Legion, installed the Rev. Mr. Brown and his slate of officers, encouraging them to put forth every effort to strengthen the Legion.

Delegates and members from 11 Legion posts in the county attended the session in the hall of Kingston Post, 150, on West O'Reilly street, and ladies of the county American Legion Auxiliary held a business session of their organization.

Praises Barth

In his remarks Samuels, the No. 1 candidate for commander of the Department of New York, American Legion, lauded Chester Barth, retiring head of the county Legion for his outstanding leadership.

Barth said his accomplishments could be credited to efficient and cooperative committes as he spoke in appreciation of a past commander's pin presented by his comrades in Town of Esopus Post, Port Ewen.

Samuels, aspirant to the state commander's post, looks for continued progress of the Ulster County American Legion under the Rev. Mr. Brown's direction, because he has served as commander of two Legion posts in the upstate area, and has an outstanding record as one of Kingston post's commanders.

Thanks Ulster Legion

Samuels thanked Ulster county Legionnaires for endorsing his nomination for department commander at the state convention to be held in Rochester on July 17-18-19.

County officers installed with Commander Brown were Donald Duignan, Marlborough, vice commander; Ray Coats, New Paltz, treasurer; Thomas Verclaversak, Saugerties, chaplain; Donald G. Moore, Kingston, service officer; Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, adjutant.

Refreshments were served by the American Legion County Auxiliary.

HAPPY 2,000,000TH—Sharon Knecht, 12, of Chillicothe, O., is the 2,000,000th girl to join the Girl Scouts of America, and she seems pretty happy about it. She received a telegram from Mrs. Roy F. Layton, National President of the Girl Scouts, welcoming her into the organization.

Death Rates

Death rates usually are lowest among the married people and highest for the widowed and divorced, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Hide Rafts

Chief Joseph and the braves of the Nez Perce Indians ferried the women and children of the tribe over the wild Snake river at the northern limits of Hell's Canyon, Idaho, on squared rafts of buffalo hide, with a pony-mounted warrior on each of the four corners.

Gotta Eat

Travelers on the trans-Siberian railway carry their own teaketles. First-class passengers are furnished with hot water, while others obtain it at special hot water taps at station stops. Many of the passengers make the 17-day journey with their own food supplies.

KITCHEN EQUIPMENT UNLIMITED — Squatting amid the amazing collection of pots and pans that nearly filled a room in an old house, David Whitman, Kansas City, Kan., antique dealer, inspects an antique lamp. Among the kitchenware were stacks of pie and cake tins, many never used. Hidden under a sewing machine, he found a small wooden box. It contained $19,000 in cash. Whitman and his partner had bid $1000 for the house's contents. They turned the $19,000 over to the bank.

Decision Put Off

May was $93,042.78, and from September, 1952 through May this year it had served 352,790 lunches. The balance as of May 31 was listed as $12,132.07.

The board voted to accept the proposal of Mills, Ward & Hobbs, accountants, of 80 Broad street, New York, to audit extra classroom activity funds, trust funds, and lunch funds for the school year ended, June 30, 1953 and give a report at completion of the work. The concern said it would generally supervise the board's accounting procedure, and will be available for advice and assistance. The fee will be on an average of $30 a day per man with the total, including traveling and subsistence expenses not to exceed $600.

The Teekorator Co., of Rochester was awarded the contract to install an incinerator in the high school at a cost of $1,338.

It was reported at the meeting that of the 356 high school graduates this year, 145 were listed for attendance at higher institutions of learning.

It was agreed to transfer the roll-away bleachers at the municipal stadium for which the board had paid $5,020 when they were bought some time ago, to the city for $1,000.

The board adopted a resolution tain a "modern highway system." in support of the efforts of the New York Good Roads Inc., to ob- Boards, throughout the state, it was explained, have adopted similar resolutions.

Adoption of a resolution authorized issuance of warrants in payment of payrolls and vouchers for June totalling $118,290.03; warrants in payment of the FDA School Lunch Program payroll and vouchers for May amounting to $9,249.22, and for June to the sum of $10,206.19; also warrants in payment of the Veterans Institutional on the Farm farm training program payroll and vouchers for June amounting to $746.36.

Ancient cities made extensive use of pipelines for water.

German Puppets

rolled ahead relentlessly until it bumped squarely into the June 17 rebellion.

The cabinet ordered the commission to strip the government's reserve shelves bare of food and clothing, throwing everything available onto the retail consumer market; slash appropriations for war-potential heavy industry by almost half and use the recouped government money for workers' housing, health and welfare improvements; junk the crop, livestock and food quotas which have forced many farmers out of business; increase old age pensions and sick benefits and raise wages for workers who voluntarily hike their production.

Martial Law Imposed

The Russian Army continued to impose its martial law in the East Zone and in East Berlin with nightly curfews and Soviet military might in open profusion for an incipient rebel to see and ponder.

Security Police Chief Wilhelm Zaisser totaled up the grim toll of June 17 and reported his men killed 19 rioters and two civilian by-standers during the riots. He said four of his men were murdered.

His report—which far understated casualties already published in Communist newspapers—did not make clear whether these figures took in the seven wounded who escaped to West Berlin and died.

At least 29 other Germans are known to have been executed by Soviet firing squads.

The West German government in Bonn charged today that at least 20 persons were killed in the Elbe river industrial city of Magdeburg in one day of the uprising. It quoted letters from the Russian zone—and vouched for their authenticity—which reported that Soviet troops lashed bodies of shot anti-Communist demonstrators to tanks and paraded them through the city.

Expenses Are Sought

Washington, June 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress late yesterday for a million dollars for expenses incident to obtaining greater economy and efficiency in the executive branch of the government. The fund would be administered by the Budget Bureau.

Rouse K. Brewster Dies at Suffield

Rouse K. Brewster, 67, of East street, Suffield, Conn., a former resident of this city, died Thursday morning at Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn. following a brief illness.

He was born in New York June 25, 1886, the son of the late Frank K. and Margaret Van Houten Brewster. He had resided in Suffield 15 years.

He was a graduate of Columbia University, School of Mines in 1908.

Long identified with the powder explosive business, he joined his father, the late F. K. Brewster, in the powder making business which was established in 1912 as the Brewster Powder Company on the present site of the Hercules Powder Company plant in Port Ewen. Later the Aetna Powder Company took over the plant and in 1921 sold it to the Hercules Company. The deceased acted as plant manager and superintendent of the local industry until his transfer to the main office in Wilmington, Delaware.

He was a trustee of Barnard School for Boys in New York for 35 years, a trustee of Suffield Academy and a trustee of the Suffield Savings Bank. He also was vice chairman of the Suffield Chapter of the American Red Cross in charge of the Home Service Department until about a year ago. He was active in civic enterprizes in Suffield and his opinion was sought in many matters.

While a resident of Kingston, he took part in the civic life of the community and was a member of the old Kingston Club.

He is survived by his wife, Rae Humphrey Brewster, formerly of Napanoch, a sister, Mrs. Madeline Brewster Pratt of Bronxville, N. Y., and a niece.

Private funeral services will be held at the late home Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Richard P. Carter, pastor of the First Church of Christ, Congregational, will officiate. Private burial will be held in Woodlawn Cemetery, Suffield. Friends are requested to omit flowers. Remembrances may be sent in his memory to the Cancer Fund, Kay Chapter, Suffield, Conn., of which he was one of the founders.

KITCHEN EQUIPMENT UNLIMITED — Squatting amid the amazing collection of pots and pans that nearly filled a room in an old house, David Whitman, Kansas City, Kan., antique dealer, inspects an antique lamp. Among the kitchenware were stacks of pie and cake tins, many never used. Hidden under a sewing machine, he found a small wooden box. It contained $19,000 in cash. Whitman and his partner had bid $1000 for the house's contents. They turned the $19,000 over to the bank.

Decision Put Off

May was $93,042.78, and from September, 1952 through May this year it had served 352,790 lunches. The balance as of May 31 was listed as $12,132.07.

The board voted to accept the proposal of Mills, Ward & Hobbs, accountants, of 80 Broad street, New York, to audit extra classroom activity funds, trust funds, and lunch funds for the school year ended, June 30, 1953 and give a report at completion of the work. The concern said it would generally supervise the board's accounting procedure, and will be available for advice and assistance. The fee will be on an average of $30 a day per man with the total, including traveling and subsistence expenses not to exceed $600.

The Teekorator Co., of Rochester was awarded the contract to install an incinerator in the high school at a cost of $1,338.

It was reported at the meeting that of the 356 high school graduates this year, 145 were listed for attendance at higher institutions of learning.

It was agreed to transfer the roll-away bleachers at the municipal stadium for which the board had paid $5,020 when they were bought some time ago, to the city for $1,000.

The board adopted a resolution tain a "modern highway system." in support of the efforts of the New York Good Roads Inc., to ob- Boards, throughout the state, it was explained, have adopted similar resolutions.

Adoption of a resolution authorized issuance of warrants in payment of payrolls and vouchers for June totalling $118,290.03; warrants in payment of the FDA School Lunch Program payroll and vouchers for May amounting to $9,249.22, and for June to the sum of $10,206.19; also warrants in payment of the Veterans Institutional on the Farm farm training program payroll and vouchers for June amounting to $746.36.

Ancient cities made extensive use of pipelines for water.

German Puppets

rolled ahead relentlessly until it bumped squarely into the June 17 rebellion.

The cabinet ordered the commission to strip the government's reserve shelves bare of food and clothing, throwing everything available onto the retail consumer market; slash appropriations for war-potential heavy industry by almost half and use the recouped government money for workers' housing, health and welfare improvements; junk the crop, livestock and food quotas which have forced many farmers out of business; increase old age pensions and sick benefits and raise wages for workers who voluntarily hike their production.

Martial Law Imposed

The Russian Army continued to impose its martial law in the East Zone and in East Berlin with nightly curfews and Soviet military might in open profusion for an incipient rebel to see and ponder.

Security Police Chief Wilhelm Zaisser totaled up the grim toll of June 17 and reported his men killed 19 rioters and two civilian by-standers during the riots. He said four of his men were murdered.

His report—which far understated casualties already published in Communist newspapers—did not make clear whether these figures took in the seven wounded who escaped to West Berlin and died.

At least 29 other Germans are known to have been executed by Soviet firing squads.

The West German government in Bonn charged today that at least 20 persons were killed in the Elbe river industrial city of Magdeburg in one day of the uprising. It quoted letters from the Russian zone—and vouched for their authenticity—which reported that Soviet troops lashed bodies of shot anti-Communist demonstrators to tanks and paraded them through the city.

Expenses Are Sought

Washington, June 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress late yesterday for a million dollars for expenses incident to obtaining greater economy and efficiency in the executive branch of the government. The fund would be administered by the Budget Bureau.

He was a graduate of Columbia University, School of Mines in 1908.

Long identified with the powder explosive business, he joined his father, the late F. K. He was a trustee of Barnard School for Boys in New York for 35 years, a trustee of Suffield Academy and a trustee of the Suffield Savings Bank. He also was vice chairman of the Suffield Chapter of the American Red Cross in charge of the Home Service Department until about a year ago. He was active in civic enterprizes in Suffield and his opinion was sought in many matters.

While a resident of Kingston, he took part in the civic life of the community and was a member of the old Kingston Club.

He is survived by his wife, Rae Humphrey Brewster, formerly of Napanoch, a sister, Mrs. Madeline Brewster Pratt of Bronxville, N. Y., and a niece.

Private funeral services will be held at the late home Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Richard P. Carter, pastor of the First Church of Christ, Congregational, will officiate.
